Little Anna Maria and Her Hero

Anna Maria Bown, 14 months, and Frank Fear, quick-witted rescuer.

Child Unconscious in Water

Baby Saved from Death After Falling Into Ditch

Alert Neighbor Saves Tiny Girl

A three-year-old boy's warning cries and alert action of an elderly neighbor saved the life of 14-month-old Anna Maria Bown, who fell into a water-filled ditch on a lot at Dunsterville and Interurban Road at 11.45 a.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Herb Bown, 1266 Dunsterville, realized the plight of her child when her son, Robert, three, ran into the kitchen crying that his sister had fallen into a ditch filled with snow and ice water next door.

Mrs. Bown said she ran to the ditch and found that her neighbor, Frank Fear, had already pulled the unconscious little girl to safety.

He had snatched mud and grass out of her mouth.

"I could have never reached her in time," Mrs. Bown told the Daily Colonist, expressing her gratitude for Mr. Fear's quick action.

FULLY RECOVERED

Mrs. Bown said she "held the child upside-down" and she was soon breathing normally. Anna Marie is apparently recovered completely, she said.

Mr. Fear, a pensioner who gardens on the land where the ditch is located, said he had been watching the two Bown children at play on his lot while he was carrying wood.

Being deaf, he could not hear Robert's screams. But when he saw the little boy running toward the house and could not see the girl, he realized something was wrong and hurried to where they had been playing.

LYING FACE DOWN

Mr. Fear said he found Anna Maria lying face down in the ditch water which he indicated was about two feet deep.

Mrs. Bown said she had her daughter "well bundled in layers of winter clothing" which kept her from getting soaked in her fall.

Minutes later she was in dry clothing again and managed to smile between sniffles.

Surprise Winners Take TV 'Emmies'

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Loretta Young and Danny Thomas were named television's "best actress" and "best actor" of 1954 last night in the annual "Emmy" race of the Academy of Television Arts and Sciences.

Both were considered "surprise" winners in the yearly derby. The announcement of their awards of the golden statuettes drew roars of ovation from the audience of stars gathered to pay tribute to last year's "bests" of the industry.

Miss Young, who plays a different role each week on her "Loretta Young Show," flashed a dazzling smile as she accepted her statuette.

"Now that I've got this I know how much I wanted it," she said.

GOBEL WINS AWARD

George Gobel, the deadpan comedian who made "So there you are" a national cliche, won the "Emmy" as the "most outstanding new personality" of the video screens during 1954.

Gobel, nervous and blushing, didn't say a word. He just clutched the "Emmy" to his chest and walked offstage.

In its "Emmy" presentations, the fledgling TV industry outdid the movies in spectacular production. It was the most lavish event in the nine-year history of the academy.

STARS CONGREGATE

Stars whose names glitter over movie marquees turned out in black tie and formal gowns, mink, orchids and diamonds, arriving in chauffeur-driven cars beneath the crossing fingers of searchlights.

Roy Rodgers showed up in a white cowboy suit. Jack Benny, George Burns and Gracie Allen, Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, Ann Sothern and many others were there.

Bleachers full of autograph-hungry fans screeched approval of their favorites in front of the plush Moulin Rouge night club on Sunset Boulevard.

It was just like a big movie premiere. Television, which has stolen a good portion of the movies' audience, had come of age.

NATIONAL NET

The awards were presented on a nation-wide network with witty Steve Allen and laughing boy Dave Garroway as masters of ceremonies.

Major awards included:

Best individual program: Operation Undersea, a behind-the-scenes film on how Walt Disney's "20,000 Leagues Under the Sea" was made.

Best dramatic series: The U.S. Steel Hour.

Best situation comedy series: Make Room for Daddy, starring Danny Thomas.

Best variety series: Disneyland.

Best mystery or intrigue series: Dragnet.

Best actor in a single performance: Robert Cummings in "Twelve Angry Men" on Studio One.

Best actress in a single performance: Judith Anderson in "Macbeth," a Hallmark production.

Best male singer: Perry Como.

Best female singer: Dinah Shore.

Best supporting actor in a regular series: Art Carney, the T-shirted sewer-rat sidekick of Jackie Gleason on "The Jackie Gleason Show."

Best daytime program: Art Linkletter's House Party.

Matsus Being Reinforced To Withstand Red Attack

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) —The Matsu Islands, 100 miles northwest of Formosa, will be defended and are steadily being reinforced, junior Nationalist officers declared Monday.

Apparently this meant with or without U.S. support. The United States has not committed itself publicly to defend the islands 20 miles off the Red mainland.

The officers told foreign correspondents that strong fortifications are being thrown up in the Matsus. The islands are being laced by a system of military roads.

The officers said the Matsus will be built up to greater strength than the Tachen Islands, which had a garrison of more than 11,000 men before they were abandoned. The Matsu garrison has been estimated at 5,000.

GENEROUS ALLY

The junior officers, who channel news to the press, took pains to impart confidence that the islands will not be abandoned. They said the United States had proved a generous ally who understands the military and psychological importance of not yielding the Matsu or Quemoy, across Formosa strait.

With George Away The Birds Will Play

Some "birds" beat George I. Warren back to Victoria yesterday as he returned from a trip to Seattle.

They broke into the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau commissioner's home at 1244 Dallas Road by breaking glass on a front door.

Reported missing are a bottle of rum and one of rye.

Neighbors who went to investigate the sound of breaking glass are believed to have scared away the prowlers.

Session To Continue Well Into Next Week

The current session of the B.C. legislature will likely run well into next week, The Daily Colonist learned reliably last night.

Although earlier predictions pointed to Friday, March 11, as a probable prorogation date, sources close to the government now feel the weight of legislation and consideration of estimates still to come will make that impossible.

The legislature began debate on the labor department estimates last night and will continue today.

Still to come are estimates for public works, education, highways, municipal affairs, finance and the premier's office.

In addition, members must complete discussion of about 40 bills now on the order paper; added to these, it was learned, are about 25 bills still to be introduced.

Opposition members have indicated they won't be rushed on any remaining government business.

Bruch To Get Labor Post CCFer Says

Herbert Bruch (SC Esquimalt) will be appointed minister of labor after this session of the legislature ends, a CCF member predicted last night.

Discussing labor policies, Frank Howard (CCF, Skeena) said, "We have reason to believe the premier thinks it will be wise to have a little juggle in the cabinet."

Mr. Bruch would succeed Lyle Wicks, who would become minister of public works. Mr. Wicks would succeed P. A. Gaglardi, who would take over the new highways department, the member forecast.

Quarrel Takes Lives of Two

WHALLEY, B.C. (CP) — A bitter family quarrel between Michael Maxmenko and his wife Doris ended here Monday in gunfire that took both their lives. Police termed the shooting murder and suicide.

Socred Firm Deal Attacked

The Social Credit government purchased a defunct irrigation company in North Kamloops, May 27, 1953, approximately two weeks before a provincial election, as "part of the election campaign," Liberal leader Arthur Laing charged last night.

Mr. Laing spoke as the public accounts committee of the legislature began checking expenses of cabinet ministers during parts of 1953 and 1954. Such checks are normal procedure during a session.

"DRY BONES"

"The government picked up the dry bones of a defunct irrigation company," said Mr. Laing, referring to a warrant purchasing title to lands and property of B.C. Fruit Lands Limited, an irrigation system in the B.C. Fruit Lands irrigation district at Kamloops, for $25,000.

"Gaglardi (Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi, whose riding includes North Kamloops) assumed all he had to do was advise Ottawa the matter would come under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act," Mr. Laing said.

"Of course the federal government had nothing to do with it," he said. "It's a matching proposition."

The warrant, examined by the committee last night, said B.C. Fruit Lands Limited was unable to carry out rehabilitation of the irrigation system, and pointed out that negotiations had started between B.C. and administrators of the Rehabilitation Act for a rehabilitation program, tentatively set at $600,000.

"Pending completion (of these negotiations), it is necessary for B.C. to buy the title to property

TV Chain To Span Canada

OTTAWA (CP) — The longest microwave system in the world—more than 3,800 miles between Sydney, N.S., and Vancouver—will carry trans-Canada television broadcasts by early 1958.

The system will be built in stages by Trans-Canada Telephone System, it was announced Monday night by Thomas W. Eadie, chairman of the system and president of the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada.

The microwave equipment can be adapted to transmit color television programs.

Some 140 relay stations will be required to complete the cross-country communications skyway, which also will provide for additional telephone circuits.

Mr. Eadie's statement coincided with one in the Commons by Revenue Minister McCann, who said the CBC will rent the microwave system to broadcast television programs nationally.

Pearkes Scores Increases For Veterans as 'Niggardly'

OTTAWA—Despite protests of Major-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, Conservative member for Esquimalt-Saanich, that the government was being "niggardly," the House of Commons gave unanimous approval yesterday to a bill boosting payments to some 41,500 burned-out war veterans and their dependents by $9,500,000 a year.

General Pearkes termed "preposterous" a statement by Veterans Affairs Minister Hugues Lapointe that the new legislation would raise the standard of living of many veterans and their families.

CEILING RAISED

The bill increases from $720 to $840 the amount a single man may earn in a year plus his allowance. In the case of a veteran and his wife living together, the increase in permitted earnings is from $1,200 to $1,440.

How could anyone have a reasonable level of subsistence on $1,440 a year, demanded General Pearkes.

He called on the minister to "apologize now for having made the overstatement of all time when he describes these miserable increases as being of great help to the older veterans and as raising appreciably their standard of living."

"INSULT"

He said he felt deeply the "insult" which had been added to the long period of procrastination which has occurred in looking after these older veterans.

He protested strongly that under the legislation widows of Imperial veterans are not eligible for war veterans' allowances after living in Canada for 20 years.

The bill providing the increases now goes to the special Commons committee on veterans' affairs.

It was given second reading —approval in principle by the house.

INCREASE POSSIBLE

Mr. Lapointe said that for a married veteran who is physically unable to do part-time work, the allowance can be increased to $120 a month through a special assistance fund from the $108 provided by the new bill. The single veteran's $60 allowance could be raised to $70.

Mr. Lapointe said removal of the permissible annual income ceilings would cost the govern-

Bitter Cold Slows Floods

CHICAGO (UP) — A bitter cold wave slowed flood waters of the Ohio River Monday but the Red Cross poured disaster workers into a four-state area and said it expected as many as 10,000 to 12,000 persons to need assistance.

The Red Cross said 1,600 families already have suffered damage to homes or property in Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana and West Virginia.

Exercise in Moderation Won't Hurt Healthy Heart

This is the second of seven articles on how to stop killing yourself. Dr. Steincrohn is the author of "How to Add Years to Your Life," "What You Can Do for High Blood Pressure" and "How to Keep Fit Without Exercise."

BY PETER J. STEINCROHN, MD, FCAP

This morning's mail brought a provocative letter about exercise:

"I wish you would clear up this question of just how much exercise each of us needs. I understand you are an exponent of you don't have to exercise. Will you please explain your theory to me? Otherwise I'll bust.

"I am 48 years old and quite a bit overweight. Whenever I play tennis or put in a good week end of golf, my wife is always after me. She says I'm overdoing, that I'm liable to get a heart attack. Isn't it true that the healthy heart can take all sorts of exercise without harm to itself? I'd appreciate an early answer for the sake of our family peace. Since my wife read one of your magazine articles against exercise, I'm always conscience-stricken whenever I reach for a tennis racket or golf club."

Your question is a good one. However limited space prevents me from answering fully. Here are some points that may straighten out your personal and family difficulties.

Exercise, in itself, does not deserve blanket condemnation. Over-exercise is the culprit. And it depends upon who is doing the exercise.

First, I concede that the healthy heart can withstand a lot of exertion. But you must ask yourself—and answer these important questions.

When did you last have a complete physical examination (including electrocardiogram)? Did your doctor restrict your exercise? If you haven't had a recent examination then your wife is correct. You are gambling with your life. If your heart is damaged, overexercise may tip you over into oblivion. Even if your heart is normal, remember that it is only normal for your age. A normal 48-year-old heart is not as efficient as a normal teen-aged heart.

Therefore, if you insist on tennis, never play singles with a youngster. Play doubles with people in your own age group.

As regards golf, better not try to get in 36 holes a day. Nine holes would be preferable. Or 18 holes with a long rest in between.

In spite of what many people think because of my books and articles against overexercise, I am not against all exercise. Moderate exercise is permissible for the healthy person whose doctor has recently given him a physical evaluation.

You may bowl, walk, do gardening, play golf or tennis. All in moderation. As for myself, I prefer to take mine in a rocking chair. I get a vicarious satisfaction in watching others overexercise.

Opposition Fails To Block New Cash For Toll Authority

A desperate last minute bid by the opposition to [illegible] a government bill providing for an additional $30,000,000 in borrowing power for the B.C. toll authority was defeated yesterday on a 25-20 division.

An amendment on third reading by Liberal leader Arthur Laing called for a six months hoist of the bill. After defeat of the amendment Mr. Laing proposed a second one—that it be referred back to committee for further study. This also was defeated.

The bill provides for an increase in borrowing authority of the B.C. Toll Bridges and Highway Authority from $20,000,000 to $50,000,000. Both the CCF and Liberal groups have opposed the bill on grounds that they don't believe in toll bridges.

They argued that the legislation gave the government a blank cheque to build toll bridges (or highways) wherever it wished in the province.

Agriculture Minister Kenneth Kiernan said during the debate that the Liberal opposition was using the same "stalling tactics" former governments had applied to the Aggasiz-Rosedale bridge in his constituency for 40 years. The bridge is one of those to be built by the toll authority.

John Squire (CCF—Alberni) said the principle of toll bridges was out of date. He said it was a type of "foggy thinking" that "died 500 years ago."

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said the bill was urgent. He agreed that people "don't want toll bridges or toll ferries." But he said it was a choice of a toll bridge or no bridge at all.

(He read a telegram from Mayor Fred Hume at this point expressing appreciation of the Vancouver city council for the immediate start on construction of the new Oak Street toll bridge.)

"Too long this province has been held back," the premier said. "And when we become the federal government the tolls will be taken off."

Randolph Harding (CCF Kaslo Slocan) quoted the premier as having said in 1945 that toll bridges were "an out-of-date way of collecting taxes." He also quoted national Social Credit leader Solon Low as saying that toll bridges were "an excellent example of asinine financing."

"If you won't take my advice, take his," said Mr. Harding.

Robert Strachan (CCF-Cowichan Newcastle) said the choice should not be between toll bridges or no bridges but between toll bridges or free bridges. He said the province should borrow to finance its bridges and make them free from the start.

"Give the people that choice and see what happens," Mr. Strachan said.

P. A. Gibbs (Liberal-Oak Bay) said the government already had sufficient authority to proceed with those bridges now planned.

Press Ejected

The press was ejected from a meeting of the redistribution committee yesterday on the request of Rev. Charles Parker (SC Peace River) whose riding Premier W. A. C. Bennett has recommended be divided.

Mr. Parker acted under the authority of a motion passed at an earlier meeting allowing a member of the committee to ask the press to leave if he plans to discuss something confidential.

Chairman Wesley Black told reporters as they left that they were being asked to leave for only part of the meeting. Not notified at what point they could go back in, however, reporters did not return nor were they invited to do so.

At the start of the meeting Liberal leader Arthur Laing brought up the question of Premier Bennett's recommendation for two seats in the Peace River. At the first meeting the redistribution committee voted to have the premier appear as a witness but he wrote a letter instead.

Premier Bennett recommended that because of expansion in the north the Peace River be given two seats, one north and one south of the river. He told reporters at the time he was making the recommendation as an MLA.

But Mr. Laing told the committee yesterday he could not see how the premier "can consider himself an MLA" on a matter like this. He said such a recommendation from him "carries more than ordinary importance."

Oak Bay Social Credit Association does not want the riding to become a part of the Victoria provincial constituency.

The move was recommended to the redistribution committee of the legislature by a sub-committee, which proposed Oak Bay Victoria become a three member riding.

At the same time it was recommended a Gulf Island riding, to include Sidney and part of Saanich be created.

Oak Bay Socreds have filed a resolution with Provincial Secretary Wesley Black, chairman of the redistribution committee. They oppose "any plan of redistribution that would result in the provincial constituency of Oak Bay being abolished."

Meanwhile it has been reported that another sub-committee has recommended four more seats for the Lower Mainland. Burnaby and Delta would each get another seat and Vancouver two more. There are 14 seats for the Lower Mainland at present.

Sympathy Only

Premier W. A. C. Bennett indicated yesterday that he sympathizes with underpaid MLAs but doesn't intend to do anything about their sessional indemnities at present.

Asked if there may be a meeting between himself, Liberal leader Arthur Laing and CCF leader Arnold Webster, Premier Bennett said: "I have heard rumors, that's all. I have not been approached. But this government doesn't believe in horse trading—on any matter."

He then added: "I am not saying the members are well paid—they're not. And they serve their country well."

Suggestion that Labor Relations Act is working well is "tommyrot," CCF members of the legislature said last night.

They claimed such a claim cannot be made until controversial sections of the act are tested. Sections concerned are the right of a judge to cancel certification and the ban on industry-wide bargaining, which Rae Eddie (CCF, New Westminster) said "makes it impossible for the IWA to conduct a legal strike."

and assets," the warrant said.

"The area is not farmlands any more, it's urban with an increasing number of homes," Mr. Laing said.

"We put $25,000 into this and nothing has happened since," he stated, adding that Premier W. A. C. Bennett sent a telegram to the chairman of the board of trustees of the system and this telegram was read at Mr. Gaglardi's election campaign meetings.

"The purchase was made as part of the election campaign," he charged.

CCF and Liberal members of the committee spent two hours last night working through stacks of expense accounts run up in parts of 1953 and 1954 by the premier, Ronald Worley, his executive assistant, and Mr. Gaglardi.

Vouchers dealt with trips by aeroplane or train to points as far off as New York, taxi fares, meals, telegraph and telephone bills, subscriptions for newspapers from all parts of B.C. and office expenses.

The committee decided to ask Evan Jones, deputy minister of public works, to explain three vouchers approved by Mr. Gaglardi.

In one case, $12.60 was spent for an advertisement in the Kamloops Sentinel in December, 1953. The advertisement gave "Christmas Blessings from the minister."

The other vouchers deal with two trips the minister apparently made at the same time in December, 1953, but the committee felt an accounting error had been made.

The committee reconvenes at 2.30 p.m. today.

June Nose Count

Simple Census Set Next Year

OTTAWA (CP)—The census-takers are gathering their forces to launch the first five-year cross-country nose count of the Canadian people in June, 1956.

It will be pint-sized compared with the big $8,000,000 decennial census of 1951, with persons an- [illegible] cities, towns and villages being asked only seven questions against 29 in the regular 10 year count.

On farms, rural folk will be required to answer only 75 questions compared with 200 in 1951.

MORE POPULATION

But with Canada's population expanding and likely to hit about 16,000,000 in mid 1956, the bureau of statistics still will require a big army of field workers, perhaps about 15,000 of them to do the count. Population reached 15,400,000 January 1 last.

Launching of the first cross-country quinquennial count had been speculated for some months, but Trade Minister Howe made it official Monday in a reply to Claude Ellis (CCF, Regina) in the Commons.

Normally, Canada relies on the 10 year census for main statistical guidance, holding a five year count only on the Prairies.

"There have been numerous developments in Canada in recent years which point to the need for bringing all provinces into the census survey in 1956," Mr. Howe said.

"The rapid growth of the Canadian population and shifts within and between provinces have posed problems of great difficulty for provincial and municipal administration and for business."

On the rural scene agricultural censuses provide the base on which annual estimates of crops and livestock are calculated through sample inquiries by mail.

NEED ESTIMATES

"The greater diversity of agricultural practices makes it difficult to keep estimates in line unless this base is provided more frequently than every 10 years." [illegible] larly true in those parts of Canada where agriculture is more diversified."

In urban areas, the person greeting the census taker will be asked, in addition to the name and address of everyone in the house, the age, sex, marital status of each, the relationship to the head of the house and whether any lives on a farm.

"A simplified census in 1956 should meet most needs," Mr. Howe said.

Going to Russia

The distinction of being the first Canadian cabinet minister ever to make an official visit to Russia can be claimed by Fisheries Minister James Sinclair next summer. At that time Mr. Sinclair will go to Moscow to represent Canada at the annual meeting of the 17 country International Whaling Commission which opens there on July 18.—(Central Press Canadian).

Your Income Tax

All Interest Received During Year Taxable

BY GORDON HOLMS
Member of the Institute of Chartered Accountants

All interest paid to a taxpayer during 1954, or credited to an account from which he can draw, is taxable, whether the sum is $1 or $1,000,000. [illegible] bond coupons are examples. Interest on mortgages, notes, agreements for sale, broker's accounts or interest received on any other type of security all are included.

There has been one change in recent years in reporting interest. Interest accrued to date of sale of bonds is taxable against the seller. Similarly accrued interest paid on bonds purchased is deductible from interest income.

The space to figure interest is on page 3 of the T-1 Short and General forms.

When one cashes war savings certificates, the amount received in excess of the purchase price is interest, but this is exempt from income tax.

Shower of Dimes on behalf of crippled children in the Queen Alexandra Solarium has passed the half-way mark in its drive for $30,000 the Solarium Junior League said last night.

Approximately 120 persons who took part in a telephone bridge contest Friday contributed $60, raising the total to $17,[illegible].

Bridge table set for high score of 4610 was won by Kenneth Robinson, 2923 Dall Road.

Other prize winners were Mrs. Lynn Ford [illegible], Head Street, and Mrs. A. J. Mills, 1938 Wesley Road.

Although collection containers have been removed, donations may still be sent to the Solarium office at Box 177, Victoria.

Fragrant Roses Loveliest of All

BY M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The rose, for me, is the most beautiful of all flowers. Its sheer loveliness defies both description and comparison, and its flower is delightful in every stage of its development—from tight bud to fully opened bloom. For flower arrangements indoors and for cut flower use in general, it comes closer to perfection than any other flower. Its fragrance, I am quite sure, is the favorite of more people than any other perfume.

In buying roses for spring planting, it is well to remember that the rose is a long-lived plant. In fact a healthy and vigorous rose bush, planted in the right spot and given reasonably good care, can be counted on to outlive the person who plants it.

FOOLISH SAVING

In view of this, it always seems to me to be rather foolish when buying a bush which is destined to be your garden companion for the rest of your life, to come home with a dried up, half dead, mass produced specimen just to save a few cents. A vigorous, healthy bush from a reliable grower may cost a bit more than bargain stock, but it will be freshly dug, free from disease, correctly labeled, and of a variety suited to our climate.

If you buy your rose bushes off the counter, look for short stocky bushes with lots of fine, fibrous roots. The growth buds should be short and plump, and just starting into growth. Any bush showing long, pale, thin shoots should be avoided.

NOTE TYPE

When you shop for roses, you will notice that the label will give not only the name and color but the type of rose. This is stated by an abbreviation such as H.T., H.P., Poly., or Climber. The differences between these types are quite important, depending on what use you wish to make of your roses.

The purposes of the climbing and rambler kinds are obvious. The rest of the rose types are divided into two broad classes—the kinds which are best for cut flowers, and the kinds which put on a lavish display of bloom for garden decoration.

BEST TO CUT

The H.T. (hybrid tea) and H.P. (hybrid perpetual) kinds are the ones for cuttin. They bear from three to five buds near the tip of each shoot, all of which are removed except one, which gives a single perfect flower at the end of a long stem. The H.T. kind will usually produce flowers throughout the summer and fall. The bushes are small and neat and many of the family have bronze or purple foliage, with flower buds pointed or vase-shaped.

There isn't much point in buying H.P. (hybrid perpetual) roses for our climate, as their chief virtue is their ability to withstand cold weather. While the flowers are usually a bit larger than the tea roses, they are flatter and with less scent. Some of them have no fragrance at all.

FOR DISPLAY

For creating a brilliant display in the garden, it is necessary to buy the type of rose which bears its flowers in great clusters rather than singly. The old name for this kind is Polyantha, and some nurseries still use this designation. The newer name is Floribunda, but both refer to the same habit of bearing their blooms in trusses or clusters rather than singly. This habit doesn't rule out their use as a cut flower, of course.

Dr. Orchard Testifies

Dishonesty Denied In Any Dealings On Forest License

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. C. D. Orchard, chief [illegible] no attempt to bribe any member of his department.

The first witness at the royal commission investigation into alleged improprieties in the granting of forest management ... licenses, Dr. Orchard, who is also deputy lands and forests minister said:

"I know of no dealings in forest management in licenses which would come under the categories of being of being dishonest."

He was replying under cross examination by T. W. Brown, counsel for J. Gordon Gibson (L-Lillooet), whose charges on the floor of the legislature last month led to the royal commission.

Mr Gibson, a former logger himself, charged February 15 "money talks and has talked in this," in a fighting speech against the Social Credit government's system of granting limber rights.

His remarks led to his being the first member ever "named" by the speaker of a B.C. legislature. He was suspended for a day for declining to withdraw his charges.

Mr. Brown asked Dr. Orchard if he knew of any attempt to bribe any member of his staff.

"Not in my experience," Dr. Orchard said.

"Would you know?"

"I think I would have a suspicion at least."

Mr Brown asked if a man with $20,000,000 to spend would receive more consideration from the forest service than a comparatively small operator. Dr Orchard said it was doubtful that likely the smaller operator would receive additional "aid from the service since he would be unable to afford costly assistance.

NO 'GIVEAWAY'

Earlier, under the direct questioning of Alfred Bull, counsel for the commission under Judge Arthur Lord, Dr. Orchard testified that B.C. was not giving away its forests.

The old system of "cut out and get out" was no more, he said. Under the forest management license system of sustained yield, he explained, a logger could cut only the amount of timber he could replant.

Dr Orchard said, "I have no knowledge of money talking or not talking, so far as the forest service is concerned."

Stumps Bring Protest

Saanich council was accused last night of dumping stumps on the public beach at the foot of Baynes Road, Ten Mile Point.

George Gunniss, 4018 White Rock Street, said the council left the stumps on the beach after they had been blown out with dynamite to clear the way for the Saanich water main.

"Do you mean to tell me the tide hasn't done its duty yet," Reeve Joseph Casey remarked.

FINDS ALLY

But Mr. Gunniss found an ally in Clr Robert Fleming. "He is right," Clr. Fleming said. "The whole thing has been completely ruined. You can't possibly get to the beach without passing through private property and the entrance is a sea of mud."

Saanich engineer will investigate to see whether or not it was the Saanich waterworks department that left the logs on the beach.

Gorge Road will remain an arterial highway, council was informed by B.C. public works department.

The reason is that it must continue to serve a large volume of traffic between Victoria and the Sooke Road even after the new Trans-Canada Highway is in use.

With assurance that the B.C. government will continue maintenance of Gorge Road, Saanich Council decided to press that the road be put in better condition.

HELD DISGRACE

"The Gorge Road is an absolute disgrace as an arterial highway. I refer to the section from the city limits right out," Reeve Joseph Casey said. He added that drainage and surfacing were "terrible."

Reeve Casey and Clr. George Austin will seek a meeting with Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi.

Canada May Back Atom Survey Plan

OTTAWA (BUP) — Canada would probably support a move to have a United Nations survey made by scientists to determine how many nuclear explosions can be set off without damage to the human race it was indicated in the Commons Monday.

Stanley Knowles (CCF, Winnipeg North Centre) asked whether Canada would propose the plan to the United Nations, suggested by the Federation of American Scientists. The study would be to determine "how many (nuclear explosions) we can stand without grave danger to the human race."

External Affairs Minister Lester B Pearson said the federation had discussed its proposal with the United States delegation to the UN. If any UN member proposed the question formally, Canada would give it careful and sympathetic consideration, Pearson said.

The minister said, however, Canada probably would not take the lead herself.

For Middle East

New Defense Setup Proposed by Egypt

LONDON (Reuters)—A new Arab defense setup proposed by Egypt Monday vied for Middle Eastern support with the recently-concluded Turkish-Iraqi alliance, which may be joined by Britain and the United States.

Outlines for the two conflicting plans to defend the oil-rich Middle East became clearer Monday as indications grew that both the United States and Britain will join Turkey and Iraq in their defense alliance this year. The proposed coalition would extend the Western defense network clear across the Middle East.

GOING AHEAD

However, Egypt, backed by Syria and Saudi Arabia, is going ahead with plans for a non-Western defense grouping, composed exclusively of Arab states and probably not including Iraq.

Monday, Egypt asked the Arab League to convene a meeting of Arab prime ministers to discuss her pact proposal. The plan was disclosed Sunday when Egypt and Syria announced they had signed an agreement with Saudi Arabia's approval, for forming the new organization.

In London, meanwhile, Anthony Nutting, minister of state, sharply rapped Israel for its part in last week's Gaza fighting against Egyptian troops. Thirty-eight Egyptians and eight Israelis were killed in the fighting.

Nutting summoned the Israeli ambassador to the foreign office less than 24 hours after the Israeli-Egyptian mixed armistice commission found the Jewish state guilty of a "brutal" and "pre-arranged attack."

Proposals by the Canadian Legion to boost the ceilings to $1,200 for single and $2,000 for married veterans would cost an additional $24,750,000.

Earlier in the debate a two-war veteran said the way Canada has repaid its heroic veterans of the First World War is a national disgrace.

[illegible]

Lieut.-Col. Gordon Churchill (PC, Winnipeg South Centre), a machine-gunner in the First World War and commanding officer of an armored regiment in the second, said the government has "tinkered" so long, time is running out on the first war veterans.

"Forty years ago these men for whom we now are making a plea flocked to the colors," he said.

"They received an outfit of clothing, two blankets and a ground sheet, $1.10 a day and some of the poorest food that was ever concocted in the history of mankind. After the war they were very much on their own.

"How quickly we forget."

Col. Churchill urged the cabinet to remember the "blood bath" of the Somme, to think about the trench-war conditions of 1914-18 which had no comparison in the Second World War except perhaps for the tragedies of Hong Kong and Dieppe.

Government office boys started at a salary of $1,080 a year. But the 60-year-old married war [illegible] total annual income of $1,440.

ALL-PARTY SUPPORT

Col. Churchill was supported by members of all parties. They asked the government to reconsider the whole question.

Rev Dan McIvor (L, Fort William) said ceilings on earnings by veterans should be removed entirely.

George Castleden (CCF, Yorkton), a 1917-18 veteran of the RAF, said the bill is a grave injustice to Canada's veterans.

John Blackmore (SC, Lethbridge), who lost two sons in the Second World War, said Canada is treating its veterans as though they had committed [illegible] crime.

Canada's Shipping Industry

SINCE the war, Canada's shipping and shipbuilding industries have gone into a serious decline. Defense contracts have succeeded in keeping the construction yards in operation, though at nothing like their potential capacity. When the current naval program slackens the builders will face an uncertain future, unless by some means they can obtain contracts for the construction of additions and replacements for domestic shipping services.

The Canadian merchant navy itself is close to extinction—reduced to a mere handful of deepsea ships, most of them designed more for special types of service rather than general cargo handling. Through sale or transfer to other than Canadian registry, almost all the ships which once flew the Canadian flag have gone beyond recall. In another national emergency the Dominion would have to rely on friendly nations to do her shipping for her—assistance which they might be unable to give.

How to restore these two allied industries to something approaching a stable foundation is the question which the Dominion government at last has turned over to a Royal commission. There can be little doubt, as Mr. Gerald Waring in his column from the national capital points out, that it is the St. Lawrence Seaway project which has precipitated this inquiry, because of the problem it poses in connection with competition for cargoes between Canadian ports by ships of foreign and Commonwealth (other than Canadian) registry. On this coast as well as the Atlantic, however, the findings of the commission will have much importance because it is the factor of outside competition which in various ways has deprived British Columbia yards of non-defense contracts to the tune of more than $50,000,000 since 1946.

To enable them to meet this competition the shipbuilders have long been urging that coastal trade—that is, trade between one Canadian port and another, which would include inter-coastal shipments—be restricted to ships built in this country and operated by Canadian companies. In making that submission to the Royal commission the industry will have the backing of long-established international practice. Canada is almost alone among the nations in allowing all comers to transport her domestic waterborne cargoes, which is in strange contradiction to the Dominion's inflexible policy of limiting to Canadian operators the transporting of goods by land and air. If that policy were extended to the shipping industry there could be no basis for complaint by competitor countries; certainly not from the United States, which reserves all coastal and territorial trade for American-built and operated ships.

Peru Offends Ottawa

IT is difficult to reconcile the inhibition of the federal government towards awards or decorations. One can understand a policy that bars titles, although in Canada there are some knights and other titled persons who do not noticeably upset the social or democratic scene. In the matter of lesser awards, however, those conferring no courtly prefix which might offend sensibility, it is not easy to see why there should be any objection. As a matter of fact there are thousands of Canadians who won awards during the war—when presumably the federal government dared not raise objection—and of course still have them. The anomaly is thus apparent.

The conferring of awards by one nation to nationals of another, brought to notice by the prime minister's remarks in Parliament about Peru last week, is a long standing act of grace. During the war foreign governments conferred 1,742 decorations on Canadian troops; this country, having no decorations to bestow, conferred none in return. Even the great republic across the border, which has no titles in its social scene, was generous in acknowledging friendly service by award of varied decorations to other nationals.

In the case of Peru, it appears that that country recently awarded its Order of Merit to two Canadians in recognition of their contributions to international relations. The Peruvian government, however, did not consult Ottawa beforehand and Mr. St. Laurent told the House of Commons he is attempting to learn why the awards were made when Peru knew that Canada frowns on decorations. One wonders now if the decorations will be withdrawn. One wonders also if Canadians are prisoners of their government; if their right to receive a gift from a foreign government can be denied by an Ottawa bias. There is no statute law which says a Canadian citizen may not be honored by another country.

In any case it ill becomes Canada to affront another nation by objecting to an act of grace as though it were a discredit and not the courtesy it was. It would seem that in the matter of honors and awards there is need for some fresh thinking at Ottawa.

Renovations at the Causeway

IF the Dominion is about to replace the former post office building, at the northwest corner of Government and Wharf Streets, the City should enquire if it would be possible for the federal authorities to release some small part of the corner frontage to permit of a widening and rounding off of the traffic intersection astride two city arteries. There is an extremely wide sidewalk in front of the building on its east side, and this extends south towards the intersection itself. Meanwhile the city road allowances there are meagre for the physical flow of traffic at the scene.

Much of course would depend upon where the property lines are on both Government and Wharf Street frontages. If the City owns all of the sidewalk-allotments at present in use it has much of the remedy in its own hands. If, however, the apparent widths are divided legally there is still a good chance that the federal department of public works would be willing to co-operate with the community in an obvious improvement at this intersection. Sidewalks, curb heights and too narrow driving lanes are all somewhat out of adjustment at the spot. Through consultation a very useful improvement might be achieved without loss to either interest.

The time to enquire is now, before federal plans are fixed in their final details. The engineers and architects for the Dominion should be approached to see what could be done along these lines. The crumbling old building occupies one of the most prominent spots on the harbor front. While its intended reconstruction may be subject to city building-permit and zoning regulations, the question of improvement of the traffic intersection itself is one that might not occur primarily to the Dominion. If the City has not already done so privately, now is the time to protect its own interests in any alterations at the site.

Interpreting the News

Marshal Tito Replies

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

MARSHAL Tito's foreign policy speech to the Yugoslav Parliament Monday indicated strongly that the restoration of relations between Belgrade and Moscow has gone just about as far as it is going to go.

President Tito sharply rebuked Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov, accusing the Russian, in effect, of deliberately trying to cast suspicion upon Yugoslavia.

Apparently Tito and the Yugoslav Communist party leaders have taken a long and thoughtful look at the recent changes in Moscow's party and government, and have not liked what they saw there. What they may have seen was a revived Stalinist foreign policy—a policy which only two years ago still was making sparks fly between the two capitals.

Tito's speech exhibited anger at the Soviet Union and at the policy as expressed by Molotov's recent speech before the Supreme Soviet.

Molotov said then that not all had been done that should have been done in the way of restoring relations between the Soviet Union and Yugoslavia, but it had to be remembered that Yugoslavia had deviated from the path of eastern Europe. That was about all, but the inference the world may have been expected to draw was that Tito was moving closer and closer toward rejoining the Cominform family. That seemed to have aroused Tito's anger.

In Monday's speech Tito said anti-Yugoslav propaganda from Russia and its satellites stopped toward the end of last year. But, he added, attempts are still being made to represent Yugoslavia's restoration of relations with Cominform countries as a realization by Yugoslavia of its errors and that "we are trying to correct them and similar nonsense."

"Of course, this can raise doubts amongst us with regard to the absolute sincerity of statements made by the most responsible leaders of these countries, and concerning unjust accusations against our country in 1948.

"It is to be understood that Mr. Molotov's formulations when he spoke about Yugoslavia in his exposition submitted to the Supreme Soviet, do not comply to reality and, in a certain sense, comply with such rumors.

"We consider this as an attempt to hush up real facts."

Giant Among Nations

RED CHINA, where history is old and Marxist rule is young, stands as a giant among nations in population, size and geographic diversity.

Close to half a billion people live within the Chinese borders that stretch from the big coastal bulge to the Asia heartland, says the National Geographical Society.

Only massive Russia spreads over more land than Red China's area, including Tibet, of roughly 4,200,000 square miles. No other country holds such a mass of humanity, not even teeming India. For each inhabitant of the South American continent there are at least four Chinese.

Nature, hostile and generous by turns, makes China a land of paradox and extremes. The diligent farmer tilling his "good earth" is a familiar symbol to the world. Yet less than 10 per cent of the territory is arable. Approximately half the country rises to heights of a mile or more, and vast expanses of wind-swept, dust-choked steppes are useless for cultivation.

Contrasts are everywhere, from the humid forests and jungles of the south to the arid grasslands and desert wastes of the north and northwest. Green valleys streak brown eroded hills, islands of lush fertility lie cradled amid perpetually ice-capped mountains.

In the rugged western ranges, peaks reach up into thin, cold air beyond 20,000 feet. The Turfan Depression in Sinkiang burrows to 940 feet below sea level. And flood and drought alternately plague the largest and most productive level regions, the North Central Plain through which flows "China's Sorrow," the Yellow River.

The people are as varied as their terrain. Northern and southern Chinese, like eastern versus western, are different in appearance, dialects and customs. The sophisticated city dwellers are a world apart from the primitive rural groups, and even inhabitants of one mountain pocket may be strangers to those in the next.

One basic element, however, links the Chinese: their deep-rooted, age-old association with the soil. Some 80 per cent are farmers. Most spend their lives scratching a living from small subsistence plots and orchards pushed to the remotest limits of available land.

Great dividing line for crops is the central mountain chain that blocks off the southern monsoon rains. South of it lie the wet ricelands; north the dry wheat and millet country. Thus the notion that all Chinese eat rice is far from true. Over large parts of the country rice is a seldom seen luxury.

China's dense urban population is another surprise in this overwhelmingly agricultural nation. Three of its cities are jammed with well over 2,000,000 people each. One recent estimate gives Shanghai 6,000,000. Hundreds of thousands more live not on land but on water, in houseboats afloat on rivers and in harbors of big coastal ports.

Industry has made little headway in China against the combined handicaps of lack of transport, inaccessible raw materials, and shortage of skilled workmen and technicians.

According to information seeping from behind the bamboo curtain, an ambitious five-year plan for industrialization went into effect in 1953.

Coal is plentiful and iron reserves are available to support heavy industry. But a late figure rating China's annual steel output at 2,000,000 tons, compared with 50 times as much for the United States, indicates the lag.

Oil fields are in production in the far northwest, north-central and southern Manchurian areas. Mines turn out such modern industrial essentials as antimony, tungsten, tin, aluminium, zinc, lead and manganese.

Whatever its future, China has a long and drama-packed past. With written records going back to the 12th century B.C., it has known feudal and civil wars, many invasions, great famines, and long periods of chaos between golden ages of cultural and material advances.

Reports from Ottawa

BEHIND the government's decision to have a royal commission investigate coastal shipping lies a fear that the St. Lawrence Seaway will ruin our Great Lakes shipping and shipbuilding industries.

Moreover, the same fear is in the minds of the men who operate our Great Lakes carriers, those odd-looking, well-decked ships which carry grain, ore, coal, newsprint, stone, sulphur, salt and other commodities between ports on both side of the lakes.

It is stated bluntly in a submission which the Dominion Marine Association made to Transport Minister Marler last fall. The Marine Association's arguments have never been publicized. They were put on ice at the government's suggestion, in the light of the fact that even then the administration planned to refer the problem to a royal commission.

For all that the International Rapids in the St. Lawrence have been an impediment to water transportation, and consequently to national development, they have also been a boon to many people.

They have fostered the growth of a lakes shipping industry which, so far as Canada is concerned, represents an investment of $150,000,000 in the operation of 264 ships. In addition, the rapids have fostered the development of a sizeable shipbuilding and repair industry on the lakes.

All this stands to be wiped out if British and foreign ships are permitted to enter the lakes through the new seaway and compete for cargoes with lakes carriers. The reason is cost. Average hourly wage in lake shipyards is about $1.50. In Britain shipyard workers get a third of that, and even less in Germany.

Moreover, it costs about $543 a day to operate a British ocean-going vessel. The comparable cost for a Canadian laker is $851, the difference being almost entirely due to the higher wage scales in this country.

Senator Norman Paterson, who runs his fleet of 35 lakers from his office in the Parliament Buildings, tells me the Germans already are building ocean-going lakers with an eye to new opportunities which the seaway will afford. Unless the government stops them, Paterson says, these and other foreign ships will destroy the Canadian industry.

The Marine Association wants two things. First, it wants Canada to withdraw from a Commonwealth agreement of 1930 which permits British ships to engage freely in the Canadian coastal trade. Such action would mean that low-cost British ships would not be permitted to carry cargoes between Canadian lake ports.

Second, it wants the government to negotiate a treaty with the U.S. to prohibit ships other than those of the two countries from participating in trade between lake ports. This would prevent any ship not registered in either Canada or the U.S. from picking up a cargo of Labrador iron ore, say, and taking it to Buffalo or Detroit.

Understandably, the government doesn't want to take any action before considering all aspects of the problem, including what effect specific action would have on Canada's foreign trade and foreign relations. That is the task it has handed to the royal commission.

The Packsack

Of GREGORY CLARK

FOR a mere dollar sportsmen and nature lovers can get a year's subscription to the New York State Conservation Department's publication, The Conservationist, which is published every two months.

The December-January issue is the latest one to hand, and a more attractive job of color printing you will not often see, and a more entertaining menu of outdoor articles can hardly be found in the commercial magazines. The centre color spread is a collection of paintings of wild animals including the weasels, fisher, marten, otter, muskrat, skunk, fox and bobcat, far better likenesses than are to be found in the average textbook. Three pages are given to color reproduction of eight species of minnow, most of them common to America. The magazine, naturally, deals principally with New York State material, but articles such as that on how to start a fire, contributed by 18 forest rangers of the state, or one on the bait fish business, on coyote trapping or the Great Lakes fisheries, give it a popular interest right across Canada.

It is an unusually good-humored publication for a government enterprise. For instance, the editors discovered to their chagrin that a great many readers started at the back, with the letters to the editor, and read towards the front. So the magazine has two covers—a front cover, a painting of the winter woodland; and another cover on the inside back cover, a color painting of still life in a hunting lodge interior. Thus, the reader who starts at the back gets off very respectably.

Subscriptions, which ought to be money orders over the border, I suppose, should be sent to the New York Conservationist, Arcade Building, Albany, N.Y.

The more Canadians become familiar with this magazine, the sooner will come the day some Canadian province will have to produce its counterpart.

Jock, a 4½-year-old Welsh sheep dog who was the winner of last year's Welsh championship, must be the only working dog in Britain with a dyed coat. It was so white indeed, that it not only confused his master but also the sheep, who followed Jock even when they shouldn't, thinking he was just another sheep.

On the Record

Incapable of Pity

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

THE British government has released a 41-page report of the torture of British prisoners of war in Korea, fully documented and perfectly horrible. The torturers were Chinese and I am sure that the account is quite true.

As long as I can remember, and before there were any Chinese Reds, "Chinese" has been an adjective modifying the noun "torture." When I was a very young girl I remember seeing a display of photographs of Westerns done to death in China—mutilated bodies, decapitated heads, babies bashed to death against walls. I can't remember at all what the occasion was; I presume the horrors occurred in connection with the Boxer Rebellion.

By and large the farther east you go, the greater the cruelty and the less the respect for human life. During the war the Chinese Nationalists massacred people wholesale on the merest suspicion of being pro-Japanese. Some of my missionary friends who witnessed what happened to Chinese students in American-sponsored colleges—young people who were suspected of being Communists—have less than enthusiasm for the humaneness of the Nationalists.

Maybe it is just because there are so many people. In teeming countries where the developed resources are never sufficient to feed the population, and famine is a recurrent phenomenon, callousness to human suffering is general. A friend of mine, a European diplomat assigned before the First World War to Peking, was appalled at the utter public indifference to the fate of little children. The streets were teeming with them and horse-drawn carts speeding through the streets would knock them down, run over them, and leave them broken and bleeding by the roadside. They never stopped and even the wayfarers showed no interest or sympathy unless the child was discovered and picked up by a member of his own family.

Pleasure in cruelty or almost complete insensibility to it is not, oddly enough, incompatible with an otherwise high state of culture.

The European Middle Ages built the loveliest cities, threw to the skies the spires of the most superb cathedrals, and opened universities from Oxford to Prague and Bologna to Seville. But it was also the age of Inquisition. Brain-washing is nothing new, either. Joan of Arc was subjected to one of the greatest brain-washing performances of which history has a record.

Nothing, it would appear, more induces to cruelty than a sense of righteousness. Cruel acts performed for a noble cause—such as the salvation of humanity—permit the perpetrators to have it both ways: to satisfy their unconscious sadistic natures and salve their consciences. No wars are so brutal as religious wars, such as the Thirty Years War of the 16th century, or the last two world wars to make the world safe for democracy, or the Four Freedoms or end the exploitation of man by man and thus one way or another usher in the millenium.

Austro-German survivors of the expulsion of the Sudeten Germans from Czechoslovakia following the withdrawal of the German troops have just published a collection of sworn documents. It would be a good idea to read this book in connection with well-documented works on Nazi atrocities, but neither would make one cheerful about the human race.

The good Czechs chose Ascension Day to round up the entire German-speaking population of Budweis for forced labor. They tore babies out of their carriages and threw them into a near-by river with their mothers after them. If a mother got with her child to the other bank, she was pushed back. One woman, a Mrs. Wallisch, was beaten half dead and then forced by blows from rifle butts to lick her own blood from the ground. The yard looked like a slaughterhouse. Many perished in these outbursts of fury but an even greater number were done to death later, in internment camps.

This happened under the Benes-Masaryk regime before the Communists came in. Sorry, but the Russian troops behaved more humanely than the Czech partisans, confining themselves largely to pillage and rape but often protecting the Germans against the worst Czech excesses.

D. H. Lawrence in "The Sea and Sardinia" describes the peculiarities of Sicilians living on the slopes of the recurring erupting Aetna volcano. He reports them as "soulless."

War, which is a human volcano, seems to have the safe effect in inuring people to pity. With all the talk about the effects of another atomic war, this aspect is not mentioned. What kind of people will the survivors be, quite apart from possible effect on their genes? Probably incapable of pity—soulless.

Prior Right

With reference to the remarks of District Labor Council delegate Aubry, concerning employment of veterans in government work veterans definitely have a prior right to a job over other men.

Veterans have made a sacrifice in serving the country in [illegible] come back

A poor moral principle, to deny them that right Every country allows for that. Yea verily the old English proverb still holds good: when a war is on it is God and the soldier; when the war is over its God forgotten and the soldier slighted

Leave Them Alone

With reference to the remarks made by a union representative about the commissionaires: I feel that these remarks are very unjust and show the disposition of the writer

I would like to ask what right has the union to say how a man shall make his living during old age The government does not provide a pension until one is 70 and there are few employers that want to hire a man of 65 at the present scale of wages.

I was with the commissionaires for four months last summer and I must admit that the men I mixed with were not a type that fall down with heart complaint They were a splendid type of man and were doing a job that allowed them to earn enough to keep their self respect and also keep them employed.

If the unions consider the commissionaires "scabs," what category would the volunteer fireman come under? We have them both in Sidney and Central Saanich Most of them are young men holding down a steady job I understand that the firemen in Victoria and Saanich have a strong union Why don't they pick on these young men doing a job with no remuneration and leave the old veterans alone?

Incidentally, we went over in the First World War for $1 per day so it wasn't for the money that we served

I sincerely trust that the service clubs back up the commissionaires. They are getting a lot of unfair publicity

Wake Up, Canada

Every day we hear that communism is a threat to civilization [illegible] anything about it. Here in Canada for every one who speaks up against communism or evil of any kind there are thousands who never say a word; nor do they encourage those who do

Furthermore, the Communists are allowed to peddle their lying propaganda everywhere, and even hold high salaried positions when they should be put in jail or shipped to Russia where they belong.

This is the same kind of indifference and complacency that caused the downfall of the satellite nations and it could happen here, or even worse, unless people wake up and mend their ways

New Playground

The other night at the Royal Oak council meeting a representative of The Island Turf Club said that if his interests were successful in obtaining the property adjacent to Elk Lake for a race track they intended to spend many thousands of dollars in developments

I asked him if they would allow the field surrounded by the race track to be used for public sports His answer was a very definite affirmative; indeed he said such uses would be encouraged and any facilities within reason that were needed for such sports would be provided

I think it is just wonderful that our young folks are going to have a good playing field in that area. The Island Turf man said that other park facilities such as swings and teeter-totters would be made too. He said they would make a nice picnic grounds too. As a mother I think it really is wonderful that we are going to have these things in Saanich without it costing us any money, indeed I understand Saanich will be paid to boot More power to the Island Turf Club and its enterprising members

A CANADIAN CITY HAS BEEN Wiped out...

During the past 20 years, automobile accidents have taken the lives of 37,000 Canadians — the entire population of a fair-sized city. A half-million more have been injured.

To meet the staggering cost of traffic accidents, the automobile insurance business this year will pay out more than $80,000,000. Beyond this, insurance companies will do everything possible to stem the rising toll of automobile accidents — by offering the safe driving incentive of lower insurance premiums for accident-free car owners and through safety work and public education aimed at making drivers more aware of the perils of modern-day motoring.

Home Playground Contest Set

Another backyard playground contest will be conducted this year by the Victoria and District Parent-Teacher Council with the co-operation of the Greater Victoria School Board.

Entry blanks will be distributed through public schools in April for return to school teachers in May.

Inspection of entries will be made early in June and awards [illegible] the summer vacation.

There will be first, second and third class awards for each grade in public schools and the same three types of awards for entire public schools.

John Halstead, council safety convener, urges everyone with a home playground to enter the contest.

"Last year some classes and some whole schools would have gained higher awards if they had reported all their playgrounds," he said.

Private schools will be included if they handle entries. Mr. Halstead explained, however, that it is not practical to give class awards to private [illegible] of their grades, but they will be eligible for awards on the basis of entire school units.

Last year entries were accepted up to Grade 6, but this year entries from Grades 5 and 6 will not be accepted.

"The need to attract the older children away from our dangerous streets is not as pressing as with younger children," said the safety convener, adding that older children can go to public playgrounds and join organized games.

"At the same time we recommend that as children grow older their home playgrounds be extended if possible to include games suitable to them, such as croquet, tennis, ping-pong and badminton," he said.

Mr. Halstead said the need for more home playgrounds is apparent in that all such developments are crowded by neighbor children.

Special prizes will be given for the best three home playgrounds. First prize is a cup donated by the Victoria Police Benevolent Association for the best all-round playground. Second prize is a shield from the B.C. Electric Co. for the most practical playground. Third award is a cup from McLellan, McFeeley & Prior Ltd. for the most artistic playground.

Entries in the contest require at least one permanent item of equipment, such as a sand box, a swing, a see-saw or a play [illegible]

The council safety convener said one large supply company in Saanich offers free sand for sand boxes to anyone coming to its yard for it and will provide free delivery of sand for those who cannot pick it up.

Regular meeting of Cloverdale PTA will be held in the school auditorium at 8 p.m. Wednesday. The program committee has planned a fathers' night and entertainment will be provided by the men.

CHOOSE FROM SELF-TIMING TONI TRIO—THERE'S ONE JUST RIGHT FOR YOU

Are you a "Do-It-Yourself" Driver?

Or would you rather be waited on hand and foot?

Rather shift for yourself . . . or let Powerglide do it?

Shifting's smooth and easy with Chevrolet's new and finer Synchro-Mesh transmission. And now gearshift and steering control shafts are concealed in a single, attractive housing.

Powerglide, too, is better than ever this year. Smoother, sturdier, and jackrabbit quick on the getaway. Deservedly, it's the most popular automatic transmission* in Chevrolet's field!

Do all your own clutching . . . or save effort and gas with Overdrive?

Clutching is easier than ever with Chevrolet's new, High Capacity Tri-Flex Clutch. The new pendant-type pedal and single diaphragm spring reduce the amount of foot pressure required, while other new advances ensure positive engagement.

The "free-wheeling" effect of Chevrolet's new Touch-Down Overdrive* eliminates much of the clutching necessary at city driving speeds. And on the highway it reduces engine speed by 22% — greatly increasing fuel economy and reducing engine wear.

Rather roll your own . . . or just push a button?

Chevrolet gives you separate crank controls both for windows and ventipanes. This is yet another of the many great conveniences offered by Chevrolet — the newest of all new cars.

Like to adjust any one window — or all four of 'em — with the mere push of a button? Automatic window and seat controls* are available on all Chevrolet Bel Air and "Two-Ten" models.

Position the seat yourself . . . or let electricity do it?

Chevrolet's big, beautifully upholstered front seat moves up and forward or down and back into your most comfortable position. More interior room this year for hips, hats and shoulders!

No need to worry about electrical equipment running your battery down in a new Chevrolet. It gives the reserve power of a 12-volt electrical system — easily capable of meeting your car's demands.

Apply the brakes like this . . . or have power make it easier?

An improved braking system and new swing-type pedals make it a cinch to stop your Chevrolet on the proverbial dime. And Chevrolet's amazing new Anti-Dive control gives you "heads up" stops!

What's new and improved about Chevrolet? Everything! Chevrolet Power Brakes* are better than ever — let you stop by a simple pivot of your foot from accelerator to brake pedal.

Rather have standard steering . . . or the extra ease of Power Steering?

How easy and sure can steering be? Try this new Chevrolet and see. Chevrolet uses a ball bearing system to cut friction to a minimum — and to get fast response from a twist of the wrist.

For parking and slow-speed turning, there's nothing quite so easy as Power Steering, of course. Good news: Chevrolet's new linkage-type Power Steering* carries a reduced price!

Automatically—

Chevrolet's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars!

What's a high-priced car got that Chevrolet hasn't? Not automatic power features. Not style — just look below. Not performance — just try out Chevrolet's new V8 or new valve-in-head 6. Not ride — perhaps the thing that will surprise you most is Chevrolet's fine, solid feel on the road. Come put it to the test. See how Chevrolet's stealing the thunder from the high-priced cars in every way!

FIRST EIGHT-ENDER: It took two and a half seasons but the Victoria Club got its first eight-ender Sunday night and the rink which counted it was skipped by none other than Hughie Renfrew, the gregarious Scot who is still struggling with the English language despite his association with it for some considerable time.

Renfrew was playing a rink skipped by Ted Etches in a friendly game between two rinks from the Sunday Commercial [illegible] him can well imagine Hughie's reaction.

Other members of Renfrew's rink were Bert Keyes, Herb Shea and Kit Carson. Victims, in addition to Etches, were Mrs. Etches and Jim and Agnes Castle.

VANCOUVER BID: The annual ladies' bonspiel at the Victoria Curling Club, which will be played March 18, 19 and 20, promises to be the best yet with a strong entry of visiting rinks.

Although there have as yet been no entries from other Island centres, seven Vancouver rinks have already filed entries. They will be skipped by Mrs. Rose Miller, Mrs. Freda Avery, Mrs. Archie Millar, Mrs. Mary Speedie, Mrs. J. Allan, Mrs. J. S. Robertson and Mrs. Marie McAllister.

At least 17 Victoria rinks, 11 from the ladies' section of the VCC and six or seven from the ladies afternoon league, are expected to enter and with some entries certain from other parts of the Island, there may be as many as 32 entries. Entries close Wednesday, March 16.

Each rink is guaranteed four games. The primary events are the Eaton and Home Furniture Trophies, while the secondary competitions are the Scurrah's and Sears Trophies, respectively. There will be prizes for all semi-finalists.

The banquet will be held Saturday, March 19, with the men's division of the VCC in charge of eating and entertainment. It's said there is a scramble for jobs as waiters

WIND-UPS SET: With play for the season nearing an end, the various leagues are completing arrangements for their wind-up parties.

Next Wednesday, starting at 8 p.m., the Wednesday Commercial Curling Club will hold its annual wind-up following the finals in the playdowns.

The following Saturday, the Civil Service and Dockyard leagues will hold a joint wind-up party with at least 200 curlers expected. On March 13, it will be the prize presentations for the RCN curlers and on Wednesday, March 16, it will be the end-of-the-season party for the VCC.

ONE FINALIST DECIDED: Play in the VCC eliminations in decide the two rinks which will represent the club in the Island Champions at Duncan on Saturday and Sunday is still going on and will be completed by Friday night.

Laurie Perlette's entry won the first competition by winning its semi-final against Harry Croll Saturday night in an extra end, then edging out Eric Bullock Sunday morning. In addition to Perlette, who is curling third rocks, the rink consists of Frank Peturrson, skip; club-manager Fred Madden at second and Jim Tang as lead.

Gar Taylor's rink has already reached the final of the second competition, defeating Croll Sunday morning and getting by Frank Garroway in the evening. Bullock knocked out George Thomson Sunday night and now meets Kirby Moysey's entry in the other semi-final tomorrow night.

Alberni Valley, Duncan and Nanaimo Curling Clubs will also be represented by two rinks in the Island round-robin. Each rink will play three games Saturday and three on Sunday at Duncan and all will play their first game, against their other club representative, before Saturday.

LET'S HOPE FOR 1960: Sooner or later, the Canadian Curling Championships (Macdonald's Brier) will be played in Victoria but it won't be before 1960 at the earliest.

It was announced yesterday that Moncton, New Brunswick will host the event next year and that Kingston, Ontario, would be the scene of action in 1957. The East was entitled to two successive seasons as this year's event was scheduled for the East but given to Regina as part of the centennial celebrations. It is Manitoba's turn in 1958, it will be in the East again in 1959 and due for British Columbia in 1960. And Victoria could support it. Play, of course, would be in Memorial Arena, wide enough for the five necessary sheets.

Sunday's scores: Montreal 4 at Chicago 2, Toronto 1 at Boston 3, Detroit 2 at New York 1.

Next games: Thursday, Toronto at Montreal, Chicago at Boston.

Montreal Canadiens, matching strides with the Detroit Red Wings through Sunday triumphs, appear to be in a good position to end the Red Wings' six year reign as regular season National Hockey League champions.

Sparked by Maurice Richard, who set up Dickie Moore with what proved to be the winner and later added the clincher, the Canadiens rolled to a 4-2 victory at Chicago. The Red Wings remained three points behind the league leaders by edging the Rangers, 2-1, at New York on the strength of Glen Skov's third-period goal.

BOSTON MOVES UP

In Sunday's other game, Boston Bruins climbed to within two points of third place by downing the Maple Leafs, 3-1, at Boston.

The Canadiens, as well as holding a three point edge over Detroit, also have a game in hand. Montreal has six games remaining and Detroit has five.

Richard's two points boosted him into first place in the individual point battle two points ahead of team-mate Jean Beliveau and three ahead of Montreal's Bernie Geoffrion. Richard has 73 points, including the league's high of 38 goals.

Skov broke a 1-1 deadlock at New York with only 79 seconds of play remaining as the Red Wings extended their undefeated streak through a seventh game. Alex Delvecchio gave the winners a 1-0 edge in the first period but Lou Fontinato scored his first NHL goal to tie the count.

At Boston, the crowd of 10,027 saw one of the roughest games of the season with referee Frank Udvari calling 20 penalties, 11 of them to Boston.

Bruin standout was goalie Jim Henry, who replaced the injured John Henderson and kicked out 31 shots.

Wininger Fires 66 To Capture Playoff

BATON ROUGE, La. (AP)—Bo Wininger of Oklahoma City put together precise iron play and deadly putting to shoot a six-under-par 66 Monday and win a three-way playoff for first money in the $12,500 Baton Rouge Open Golf Tournament.

The greying 32-year-old Oklahoman toured the first nine in a five-under-par 31, eased up on the back nine for a one-under 35, and won by four strokes over Jimmy Clark of Laguna Beach, Calif., who shot a two-under-par 70 to take second prize money.

Billy Maxwell of Odessa, Tex., had putter trouble and came in with a 71 over the par-72 6,450-yard Baton Rouge Country Club course.

The three golfers had ended in a three-way tie Sunday with 278s.

Clark, who started the final round in a tie for second place at 206, stroked a par 72 while Maxwell and Wininger each had 71 for their final round.

Marty Furgol, who led with a 205 total after 54 holes, had a two-over-par 74 to tie with four others at 279.

Victorians Dominate All-Stars

Victoria and district high school players were chosen to four of the five positions on the first all-star team at the conclusion of a successful fifth annual Vancouver Island high school basketball tournament at Courtenay Saturday night. Selected by the panel of five judges as the most valuable player in the two-day tourney was Victoria High guard Tom English, who is shown admiring the Times Trophy. Members of the all-star team are, left to right, Joe Patterson of Esquimalt, guard; Waldo Skillings of Victoria High, forward; English, centre; centre Bob Tomlinson of Victoria High, and forward Gary Panton of Alberni Chieftains.

Porky Andrews' well-drilled Victoria High Totems finally snapped their Alberni jinx in the championships by squeezing out a 38-37 victory in a thrill-packed final before an overflowing crowd at the new Courtenay High School gym. Totems were beaten in the final by Alberni the first three years but downed Esquimalt in the final last year. Team members are, left to right, coach Porky Andrews, Bud Rutherford, Brian Wooldridge, Jim Leask, Waldo Skillings, Ed Kowalyk, Den Perry, Tom English, Bob Tomlinson, Bill Abbott, Doug Jones, Terry Lore and Ken McCullough. Babe Ruth Ball Loop To Be Set Up Here

Formation of a Babe Ruth Baseball League in Victoria was announced last night.

Started in the United States and quickly spreading into Canada, Babe Ruth baseball is for youngsters 13, 14, and 15 years old and is a continuation of the Little League baseball program.

Little League baseball takes in youngsters up to 12 years of age. There is also Pony baseball, for the 13 and 14-year-olds and a Pony League is already in its formative stage here. Babe Ruth baseball takes in the extra 15-year-old age bracket.

As there are no boundary limitations, Babe Ruth baseball is offered to all of Victoria and district.

Colin Kilburn, who made the announcement of the new league, stated that the Victoria and District Amateur Baseball Association had promised its full support and co-operation in the organization and development of Babe Ruth baseball. Several members of the Victoria Cougars, including Andy Hebenton, Doug Anderson and Kilburn, have signified their intention of helping in any capacity in organization and operation.

A regular league schedule will be drawn up with games to commence on or about May 1 and continue through to the first week in July. Following the league schedule, an all-star team will be selected to represent this area in the regional playoffs, scheduled for Capilano Stadium in Vancouver.

Teams from Vancouver Island, the B.C. Mainland and the states of Washington, Wyoming, Oregon and Montana will compete in the regional playdowns. The winner will continue on to the world championships, in a U.S. city yet to be selected.

MEETING THURSDAY

An organizational meeting will be held at the Eagles Home, 751 View Street, at 8 p.m. Thursday and anyone interested in helping out, whether as coach, manager, umpire, score keeper or other official capacity, is invited to attend.

Further information, meanwhile may be obtained from either Jack Henderson (3-8824), Roger Emery (2-9719) or Vic Booth (7-1527).

(From CP and BUP Reports)

REGINA—A thaw followed by rain, the biggest opening crowd and the longest game in the history of the 26-year-old event, some high-scoring and one-sided games, and a thrilling but losing battle by New Brunswick in the first draw, featured the opening day's play in the annual Macdonald's Brier competition for the Canadian curling championship on Monday.

FAVORITES LOOK GOOD

And, after the two draws had been completed, there was no reason to believe that the pre-bonspiel favorites—Saskatchewan's entry of the Campbell brothers and B.C.'s Reg Stone—didn't deserve their rating.

The Campbells looked almost unbeatable as they clobbered Newfoundland in the first draw, 20-3, and followed up by besting Prince Edward Island, 11-7. Reg Stone's Trail rink drew a bye in the first draw but looked sharp in handing Nova Scotia a 19-3 pasting in the second draw.

But there were indications that the Manitoba, Northern Ontario and Ontario entries would be also tough to beat. All three rinks won their first two games with five of the 11 rinks unbeaten after the final day's play.

It was a different story, however, for defending-champion Alberta, represented this year by the Hugh Brown rink of three farmers and a television salesman from Claresholm. Brown was upset, 10-6, by Nova Scotia in the first draw and lost to Andy Grant's Ontario hopes, 13-5, in the second draw. He now must win his remaining eight games to retain any chance to succeed Matt Baldwin.

FIGHTING RALLY

Most interesting game of the day, and the record-breaker, was the 14-12 decision scored by Ontario over New Brunswick in the first draw.

Ontario's foursome rolled to a 9-0 lead in the first six ends and appeared to be a shoo-in when Edgar St. Pierre and his Moncton mates started to fight back.

St. Pierre counted four on the seventh end, one on the eighth, one on the ninth and three on the 10th to tie it at 9-9. Andy Grant's Toronto Granite Club rink then apparently ended it by counting three on the 11th but St. Pierre still wasn't through. Counting two when he came up for his rock on the 12th end, he squeezed by two rows of guards and raised in one of his rocks for a third counter. He barely missed getting through for the winner on his last rock but had forced an extra end.

Neither rink could score on the 13th as rocks piled in front of the house made it impossible to get one in. But Grant guarded two rocks well on the 14th end and St. Pierre couldn't get through.

It was the first time in Brier play that a game had gone more than 13 ends.

St. Pierre blew an early lead in his second game and lost to Bob Forsythe's strong Manitoba entry, 11-9, when a five-ender in the eighth end was followed by a three-ender to turn the tide. Forsythe breezed by Quebec, 11-6, in his first game.

TWO SIX-ENDERS

Campbell's rink scored two six-enders, one in each game. The first one gave the Avonlea brothers a 11-0 lead after four ends to the rout of Newfoundland. The second six-ender, however, was badly needed. The Saskatchewan rink took an early lead, 5-2, against Dr. Wendell MacDonald's fighting four from Charlottetown but lost it as Prince Edward Island counted once in each of the eighth, ninth and 10th ends to tie at 5-5. But, with an upset in the making, the Campbells counted six on the 11th end.

Stone had no trouble at all with Gerry Glintz' Truro rink. The B.C. rink counted in the first eight ends to run up a 12-0 lead, conceded two on the ninth, then got four in the 10th and three in the 11th.

Scoring was high throughout with an average of more than 20 points for the 10 games played. In addition to the six-enders and the five-ender, there were five four-enders and three-enders were common with 16.

The number of undefeated rinks is certain to be cut by at least one in today's two draws, [illegible] in a crucial game in the morning. Stone's chances probably rest on how he makes out today as he has to play Manitoba in the next draw.

Regina was en fete for the event, first ever staged here. The temperature rose to 40 above and rain fell in the afternoon. Thousands lined the parade route and more than 3,000 showed up at Regina Stadium for the opening draw.

C&C Square Series, Whip Clippers, 5-1

C & C Taxi, hammering in three goals in the final period, squared the best-of-seven Vancouver Island Hockey League playoff championship at two games apiece at Memorial Arena last night by trimming Nanaimo Clippers, 5-1, in a bruising battle.

It was the second straight victory of the Taximen, who dropped the first two games but surged back into the picture Saturday night with a 7-4 triumph for their first victory of the season at Nanaimo. Fifth game will be played at the up-Island town Saturday night Saturday night with the teams returning to Memorial Arena for the sixth game Monday.

A crowd of 1,212 fans watched a wide-open tussle last night with the teams tied at 1-1 at the end of the first period and the winners taking a 2-1 lead into the final period, which threatened to get out of hand several times.

The clubs, which have showed little respect for each other at any time this season, battled fiercely throughout and tempers flared in the third period, when referees Ross Valliere and John Smith handed out five of the 10 penalties.

REFEREE HIT

Several personal tiffs broke out, but the most serious outbreak of the night came when Mel Gordeau, Nanaimo's top scorer during regular season play, flicked Don Ashbee's stick halfway across the arena. Smith handed the Nanaimo player a two-minute penalty but Gordeau crashed the referee in front of the timekeepers' bench and was given a game misconduct.

There was little to choose between the clubs in a wide-open first period featuring some sparkling end-to-end rushes but the Taximen, weathering a 10-minute storm by the Clippers in the second frame, gradually gained control and had all the best of it in the final frame.

HARD TO CRACK

Aiding the C & C cause was a sound defense led by veteran Bernie Strongman, and a brilliant display in goal by George Hall. At the other end, Clippers had Spanky Hodgson back in the nets and the scrappy little goalie, who fractured a cheek-bone early in the season and was seeing his first action since then, turned in a sparkling effort.

Toby Brown, who played a strong game on the attack for the winners, set up Al Arnold with Taxi's first goal but Lawrence Plensky tied the count on a neat three-way play with brother Denny and Bill Sutherland.

Taximen took over from there with Del Brown, who assisted on the final three goals, putting the winners ahead to stay. Nanaimo launched a counter-attack in the second period and Hall made several brilliant saves until his team gained control and outplayed the visitors the rest of the way.

Ron Bremner made it 3-1 at 4.53 of the third period and Ashbee added the final two markers, both of them coming with Nanaimo playing a man short.

First period—1, C & C Taxi, Arnold (T. Brown) 3.15; 2, Nanaimo, L. Plensky (Sutherland, D. Plensky) 6.00. Penalties—Ashbee 12.03.

Normal School Still Unbeaten

Normal School maintained its undefeated streak in the inter-collegiate junior basketball league Saturday night by downing Victoria College Vikings, 39-25, at the Oak Bay Junior High gym.

In other games, Normal School II downed Pedagogues, 37-29, and Normal School women whipped Victoria College, 53-30.

Three Basketball Teams Gain B.C. Playoff Berths

High schools on Vancouver Island returned to normal yesterday following the completion Saturday night at Courtenay of what was probably the most successful Island high school basketball championship tourney in the five-year history of the event.

Victoria High Totems, who won their second straight championship, Alberni High Chieftains and Esquimalt Dockers all gained berths in the provincial tournament which will be held in Vancouver later this month. Victoria High and Alberni both had clinched berths Friday night but the Dockers gained a third-place finish Saturday on the strength of a thrilling 48-46 victory over host Courtenay.

Two records were established during the two-day tourney, both of them set by Cumberland. The fourth-place team sank 25 foul shots against Ladysmith Friday night to break the old record of 20 held by Cumberland.

Cumberland also set a new mark for most number of free shots in the tournament, scoring 62 in its three games to crack the old record of 43 set by Esquimalt last year.

Duncan Forward Tallies Four Goals in 39 Seconds

Lou Schreenan of Duncan must have set some kind of a hockey record at Nanaimo Sunday night in the opening game of the Vancouver Island Suburban League semi-final series between Courtenay and Tri-City Merchants.

Playing for Tri-City, a team sponsored by merchants of Duncan, Chemainus and Ladysmith, Schreenan scored four goals in 39 seconds of the third period as his team dropped a 7-5 decision to league champion Courtenay.

FROM FACE-OFF

The Duncan forward, who opened the scoring for the losers and accounted for all of their goals, started his amazing outburst at 19.11 of the third period with the Merchants trailing 7-1. Schreenan took the puck from the face-off four times and blasted four shots past a harassed Courtenay goalkeeper, winding up the scoring at 19.50.

Cochrane paced the Courtenay attack with two goals while Currie, Middleton, Hoggstand, Nelson and Moore each scored once.

In the opening game of the other semi-final series, Lake Cowichan Bruins battled to a 1-1 tie with Port Alberni.

Semi-final series will be a best-of-three affair with the winners meeting for the Colonist Cup in a best-of-five final.

DUSSELDORF, Germany — [illegible] accomplished, the world champion Penticton Vs took things easy Monday, relishing their first really carefree moments since they came to Europe February 17 in search of the world hockey title.

VANCOUVER (CP) — Erwin Swangard, sports editor of The Vancouver Sun, says in a dispatch from Dusseldorf that Grant and Bill Warwick announced their retirement from hockey after Penticton Vs defeated Russia Sunday.

Now they will devote their time to their restaurant in Penticton, he says.

Grant will probably continue as Vs' coach, says Swangard, and younger brother Dickie will carry on with the team.

Most of the players just rested. In the roistering aftermath of Sunday's 5-0 victory over Russia in the deciding game of the nine-country tournament, some players didn't get much sleep and were pretty tired.

Most of the players were so keyed up for Sunday's game that it may be days before they really "unwind."

ALL BROKEN-UP

Russian reaction was pointed out in a report from Krefeld, site of the final, which said Eugeny Babich, key Russian player, was so crestfallen in defeat he broke four hockey sticks in his hotel room and threw his skates out the hotel window.

The loss was the first for the Russians in the two years they have participated in the tournament as Canada, which sent a stronger team to the championships this year, avenged the setback at the hands of the Russians a year ago.

[illegible] there is a strong feeling among the players and Canadian fans in Germany that Canada should never again take part in the tournament under its present setup.

Bobby George, president of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, commented that Sunday's game was "played as hockey should be played." He implied that he hoped European teams would see fit to copy Canadian style.

One suggestion from the Vs was that in future Canada should let Europe pick its own champion and then send the team to North America to play a series.

A sellout crowd of 11,000, including more than 1,500 Canadian soldiers and their wives and friends, packed the Krefeld rink and watched Penticton outplay the Russians in every department.

After the first period there was no doubt who would win. The only question was by how much. Mike Shabaga and Bill Warwick, both veterans of many playoff games, were the big men in the clutch with two goals apiece. Captain George McAvoy scored the fifth goal to climax the one-sided battle.

The victory was far easier than even the optimistic Canadians had expected. The Russians unimaginatively tried only one attack pattern and when that failed they could not readjust.

Canada slowed down the Russian forwards with some bruising checks, picking up six penalties to one by Russia. In the final two minutes, the Vs were two men short but had little trouble in holding off the disorganized Soviet squad.

The Canadian strategy was so iron-clad that the leading [illegible] never got a shot on goal. One of the most downhearted players was Nikolai Puchkov, the regular Soviet netminder. He was pulled out shortly after Penticton scored its last two goals in the first three minutes of the third period and skated dejectedly to the Russian player bench.

When the referee blew the final whistle, spectators poured onto the ice and hugged the Canadians. Even the German fans, who had booed the Canadians during the tournament for "rough play," took up the chant of the Canadian supporters, "Go Vs Go!"

DEJECTED TEAM

While McAvoy accepted the cup from J. F. Ahearne, president of the International Ice Hockey Federation, the Russians stood silent and tight-lipped, a beaten and dejected team.

The Russians had seemed nervous and exhausted in the closing minutes of the game, although conditioning had been expected to be their strong point.

It was a sweet success for the Canadians, who went into the game knowing that a defeat would stain almost beyond redemption the fabulous record they had set up since the Penticton success story started four years ago. Nothing less than a victory this year would have appeased those who regard Canada as the cradle of hockey.

Cathedral Gets News

VANCOUVER (CP)—Penticton Vs' triumph over Russia even invaded the quiet of Christ Church Cathedral Communion service here Sunday morning.

When announcement time came, Dean Northcote Burke said he had two important notices.

One was that Bishop H. H. [illegible] take Lenten services later this week.

"The second important thing," said the beaming dean, "is that Penticton Vs beat Russia 5-0.

"I thought if you hadn't heard, you'd want to know."

Boxla Royals Bid for Stars

NEW WESTMINSTER (BUP) — New Westminster Royals of the Inter-City Lacrosse League plan to import a playing coach and a top goal-tender for the coming season.

The Royals are reported trying to get Harry Wipper of the Peterboro, Ont., Trailermen as coach. Trailermen won the Canadian title four times.

Club secretary Carl Elander said, "We have strings out for two men, but refused to divulge their identity.

Pat Lesser Wins

ORMOND BEACH, Fla. (UP) — Smiling Pat Lesser of Seattle defeated Mary Ann Downey of Baltimore 3 and 2, Saturday to win her second straight title in the South Atlantic Women's Amateur Golf Tournament.

Victory for Canada Joyously Received

(From CP, UP and Reuters Reports)

Canada's Penticton Vs hockey team was lauded in the German press Monday and showered with congratulatory messages from all parts of the free world for its victory over Russia in the world hockey championships.

Hundreds of telegrams from Canada poured in at the Canadians' hotel in Dusseldorf, including one from Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent, one from Progressive Conservative leader George Drew and a cable from Governor-General Massey.

News of the victory brought an almost holiday mood to Parliament Hill in Ottawa, where the house sitting was interrupted for three cheers for the Penticton team.

Meanwhile, West German newspapers hailed the Canadians' win over Russia as a true criterion of the Pentictons' superiority.

The Frankfurter Neue Press said a "Canadian tornado swept the Russians from the ice." It said the Russians played "text book hockey" but were unable to match the fast-moving improvised Canadian attacks.

The Frankfurter Allgemeine Zeitung said the Russians were given an ice hockey lesson by the country which originated the sport.

Communist newspapers had almost no excuses for the Russians and credited the "hard body play" of the Canadians for the win. But they also criticized the Russians for being too slow to take advantage of their chances.

George Ragulsky, vice-chairman of the Russian All Union Sports Committee, said: "We are very sure the better team won. But we still are not afraid of any team that plays our kind of hockey. Canadian hockey is too rough . . . it is a game of man-to-man and not really the kind of team game it is to us."

Team captain Vzevlod Babrov said "You could not win against such a team. They are different from us, too hard and let's admit it, awfully good. They deserved the victory."

Moscow radio brought the play-by-play description behind the Iron Curtain and described the game as [illegible] played, with a few rough episodes in it."

Penticton playing coach Grant Warwick said it was strictly a case of outsmarting the Russians. "We played strategy all the time," he said.

"We worried and worried and worried," said Jim Fairburn, "but by gosh we've done it and I'm still too excited to relax."

The Vs are assured of a tremendous welcome when they return to Penticton March 16 or 17. The quiet of the little Okanagan Valley town was shattered Sunday when an estimated 6,000 persons, more than half the population, rushed from their homes for a spontaneous celebration after the news of the victory was flashed.

A procession of cars stretched for more than 11 miles as drivers tooted and honked their way from the city to the Skaha lakeshore and back.

The Vs, named for three varieties of peaches—Valient, Veteran and Vedette—will be given a homecoming dwarfing anything the town has ever seen.

Bill Warwick Tops Penticton Scorers

KREFELD, Germany (CP) — Bill Warwick, the rugged winger of Penticton Vs, led the team in goals and total points in the world hockey tournament, unofficial statistics compiled by The Canadian Press showed Sunday.

However, Vlastimil Bubnik of Czechoslovakia won individual scoring honors with 16 goals in eight games, more than half of them in week-end games when the Czechs swamped Poland 17-2 [illegible].

Bill Warwick had 14 goals and Vladimir Zabrodsky of the Czechs was third with 13.

Ivan McLelland was by far the outstanding goalie, chalking up four shutouts in Canada's eight games and finishing with a remarkable goals-against average of .75.

ESSO EXTRA GASOLINE
stops cold weather stalling
Ice in the carburetor has been proven to be a major cause of stalling. New Esso Extra combats the formation of ice anywhere in your car's fuel system. So, when you stall, don't blame it on a cold engine or carburetor adjustment until you've tried New Esso Extra.
As gasoline vaporizes in the carburetor, it has a refrigerating effect. Condensation from the intake air freezes. Ice crystals stop the fuel supply . . . and your car stalls. Avoid this with New Esso Extra.

Appointments Fail To Satisfy Ratepayers

PARKSVILLE—Because of dissatisfaction over last Saturday's appointment of a village commission, a meeting has been called by the Parksville Ratepayers' Association for Thursday at 8 p.m. at the community hall.

Opinions were expressed at a meeting of some 20 ratepayers Sunday that the commission appointment was undemocratic and should have been taken to the people of the village.

Appointment of four leading candidates in the December election was suggested Saturday by J. E. Brown, deputy minister of municipal affairs, in a final bid to clear up the election mix-up which was climaxed two weeks ago by the resignation of the entire commission.

A village council is urgently required now to set the tax rate and decide other important issues.

Ratepayers hope their Thursday meeting will clarify certain misunderstandings and determine whether a majority favors the appointment of the four commissioners.

E & N Rights Questioned

Island Members Ask Help for Old Mines

Robert Strachan (CCF, Cowichan-Newcastle) Monday called on the provincial government to consider ways and means of taking over long-held mineral rights from the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway on Vancouver Island.

Mr. Strachan also asked that the government take over projects of Canadian Collieries (Dunsmuir) Ltd., which have been abandoned for more than a year.

Mr. Strachan and Dr. Larry Giovando (Ind.-Nanaimo) asked for assistance in road construction from the mines department for old mines of Canadian Collieries which now are being worked by small operators who have sunk their life savings into them.

Lands Minister Robert Sommers said the mines department has a policy of helping road construction but it does nothing for operations such as these, which he called "salvage" operations.

Mr. Strachan said the operators must pay high royalties to Canadian Collieries. Mr. Sommers said the government could do nothing about royalties.

Large grants of land and their mineral rights were made to the E & N, now owned by Canadian Pacific Railway, when it was constructed by the Dunsmuir interests many years ago.

Mr. Strachan said a way was found to tax those lands, although the original agreement said they would be tax free. He thought perhaps a way could be found to take the mineral rights back.

The union plans to sell its present Comox Road quarters and move to a more suitable location.

Mayor Wants Police Force To Hold Line

Determination to keep police costs from rising this year was expressed again yesterday by Mayor Claude Harrison as chairman of the police commission.

Last week he declared himself in favor of a reduction in the police force.

When the police commission postponed consideration of 1955 estimates yesterday for a week the mayor noted that they were $11,942 higher than last year's.

SHOULD BE LOWER

"I think the chief should keep his estimates from going over the 1954 figure," said the mayor. "To tell you the real truth, I think they should be under that."

When Commissioner William Hamilton reported that another clerk was needed in the department, the mayor declared:

"I'm against adding anyone to the staff of the department. I'm not only against it, I'm going to ask for a reduction."

The subject of higher costs came up again when the commission was informed that three inspectors, now a collective bargaining unit, wanted a meeting to discuss retroactive pay for a 3 per cent increase they missed last year when they were not certified.

"IT HAS TO STOP"

"This is the same sort of encroachment — encroachment upon encroachment — you find all over the country," said Mayor Harrison. "It has to stop."

A family and juvenile court to a separate building was suggested by the mayor after the commission noted that 13 charges of taking cars without the owners' consent had been laid in January against juveniles.

Commissioners agreed that "taking a car without the owner's consent" is theft — "Just a pussyfooting way of getting around it," the mayor said.

He suggested the city welfare centre as a site for a family and juvenile court.

"These boys shouldn't be around this building," he said.

CAN'T COLLECT

The commission wrote off $187.50 in fines levied against juveniles and not paid, after Police Chief John Blackstock reported the defaulters had moved away and the money could not be collected economically.

An agreement granting two police station janitors a 50 per cent contribution to Medical Services Association fees and 10 cents a day service pay after five years was approved.

The commission approved promotion of Const. W. Acreman from third to second class constable. Because Const. Lyle Somers, acting juvenile officer, is ill, appointment of a new juvenile officer was postponed.

Suggestion of the Victoria Automobile Club that policemen be issued with white distinguishing marks to add to their uniforms at night was turned over to the police chief for his recommendations.

The chief was also asked to prepare information on the operation of police ambulances for L. R. Bourne of 2520 Fernwood, who indicated he might be interested in bidding on private operation of a police ambulance.

Police Chief Reports:

More Drivers Face Impairment Charge

A 57 per cent increase in impaired driving charges in city police court in 1954 was noted by Police Chief John Blackstock in his annual report, submitted yesterday to the police commission.

Eighty three persons were charged in 1954 with driving while their ability was impaired by alcohol, compared with 60 in 1953.

The police chief also noted that 31 persons were charged with driving while disqualified in 1954, as against 16 in 1953.

Other highlights of the report were:

Fines and costs collected totaled $84,087, an increase of $6,736 from 1953.

Value of stolen property reported, $53,273, was described by the police chief as an alarming increase. A "favorable ratio" of $21,839 worth of stolen property was recovered.

Value of goods obtained by false pretenses decreased although 24 charges were laid as against 16 in 1953.

Traffic accident figures showed an improvement. Accident investigation squads attended 911 accidents, compared with 1,064 in 1953. Reportable accidents declined from 1,145 to 1,058.

Fatal accidents were reduced from five to four; accidents resulting in injury from 239 to 199, and accidents causing property damage from 820 to 708.

House Raises Pension

Pensions paid to orphans and dependent children of fatally injured workmen will be raised from $20 to $25 a month under a Workmen's Compensation Act amendment brought in last night.

The bill was one of seven introduced at yesterday's night sitting.

It makes no provision for compensation of fishermen, long demanded by labor bodies in the province.

The bill also increases the minimum compensation for total disability from $15 to $25. This means that totally disabled workmen who receive $25 a week in salary or less will receive 100 per cent of their wage as compensation and 75 per cent for anything over. The old minimum was $15.

SIMPLE APPEAL

Another amendment provides a simplified form of appeal from rulings of the workmen's compensation board. The injured appellant chooses a specialist from a list supplied by the board, in turn supplied by the college of physicians and surgeons.

Compensation, increased last year, will also be extended to workmen injured before March, 1943, but whose permanent disability was not finally determined until after January 1, 1955. There are only about six such cases in B.C.

An amendment to the Game Act provides for open season on certain big game under one year old if the department wishes to declare it. At present no big game under one year can be hunted.

Island Gets Full Share For Roads

Vancouver Island, which has less than 10 per cent of the total road mileage in British Columbia, received almost one ninth of the money spent by the provincial government on roads in the 1953-54 fiscal year.

Public Works Minister P. A. Gaglardi said last night $3,983,129 was spent on Vancouver Island and $25,171,209 was spent elsewhere in B.C.

He said 60.8 miles of road was built or rebuilt on Vancouver Island and 343.6 miles elsewhere. Total mileage in the province is 22,976, of which Vancouver Island has 2,200 miles.

Municipalities To Gain By Increase in Grants

BY [illegible]
Colonist Legislative Reporter

The provincial government yesterday moved to boost grants under the new municipal aid formula from $6,450,000 to $7,250,000—an additional $800,000 for municipalities over 8,000 population.

At the same time, provincial grants to school districts under the new school financing formula will be $555,000 less than originally proposed, a cut from $31,400,000 to $33,845,000.

The changes affect legislation brought in earlier in the session and estimates still under review by the house.

The original municipal aid formula provided per capita grants of $14 for population up to 3,500, $9 from 3,500 to 8,000, $5 from 8,000 to 50,000 and $2.50 for over 50,000.

The amendment jumps the grant for the 8,000 to 50,000 category to $6 and the grant for the over 50,000 category to $4.25.

Premier Bennett told The Daily Colonist that under the change "some municipalities will get more money and none will get less."

He said the change was brought about by information obtained recently by the assessment commission. It was found that with the increase in assessments the province had over estimated what its share of school costs would be. Under the new school finance formula the amount to be raised by a fixed mill rate by the local districts will be more and the province's contribution, therefore, less.

This extra money (plus an additional $245,000 directly from the provincial treasury) will be turned over to certain municipalities including all Greater Victoria municipalities.

Vancouver will gain $500,000.

Premier Bennett said the original $2.50 grant base for the over 50,000 category was "too severe." The government apparently feels that Vancouver was being unduly penalized for its large population.

The "second look" had been going on for some time, the premier said.

The provincial government's move to increase municipal aid grants will benefit Greater Victoria by an extra $71,290. Victoria will gain $44,700, Saanich $20,480, Oak Bay $3,960 and Esquimalt $2,150.

Computation is based on populations recorded in the 1951 census.

Victoria's grant as originally announced would have been $302,800. Under the new amendment it will be $347,500.

The Saanich grant will jump from $191,200 to $212,380, the Oak Bay grant from $109,300 to $113,260 and the Esquimalt grant from $100,265 to $102,418.

"Victoria will appreciate the increased grant," Mayor Claude L. Harrison said. "I think it's a right step."

Reeve Joseph Casey of Saanich also said he was "very thankful for it."

Driver Cited

ED B. COLLIER

A 60-year-old driver, who has been handling New Method Laundry trucks for 30 years, Mr. Collier is today's nomination by Greater Victoria police as "most courteous driver." Traffic patrol officers said they followed Mr. Collier in Saturday morning downtown traffic and complimented him on his regard for the safety of others and his own security. He will get awards from Woodward's store, Dominion and Royal Theatres, as well as the "courtesy sticker" for his car.

Foreign Firms Interested

Premier W. A. C. Bennett told a press conference yesterday that both German and British companies had shown interest in establishing a steel mill in British Columbia.

He said the German company, which he would not name, had held talks with the government within the last 10 days.

One site which the premier linked with the companies was the Argonaut mines on Vancouver Island. He said experts believed there is a sizeable body of ore there.

New legislation before the legislature permits B.C. to prohibit exports of raw ore from new discoveries and also prevent companies from taking out only that ore which is easiest to reach.

Ice Cream To Arrive With Bells

Saanich will be served by an ice cream van with musical chimes next summer.

Saanich council last night approved the application of F. Godspeed, 2337 Heron Street, to operate the van, but it did not pass without opposition.

"I don't see anyone running around with their tongues out for ice cream . . . and if they do we have stores in Saanich," Clr. Leslie Passmore said.

"We still have free enterprise," quipped Clr. S. W. Brock.

A slump in building permits issued in Victoria in February was attributed yesterday to a January rush to beat a new city by-law requiring apartment buildings to be set back 25 feet instead of 15 feet from the road.

City Police Still Dislike Bobby Helmets

With a single voice, Victoria policemen voted down a suggestion to return to the "bobby" helmets at a police union meeting last night.

A union representative said the bucket-type helmet, long a target of tourist cameras and policemen's wrath, had encountered a solid wall of opposition among the men.

Police won the first round of their battle against helmets in 1947 when all but a few constables stationed at the CPR pier were permitted to change to the present open collar tunics and caps.

Health Officials Hopeful

City May Escape Flu's Onslaught

Victoria and Saanich health authorities were keeping their fingers crossed yesterday hoping the southward sweep of an influenza epidemic had halted on the fringe of the area.

An outbreak that reached its peak February 28 at Belmont Junior-Senior High School was reported tapering off rapidly, and attendance in city and Saanich schools was described as almost normal, although "odd cases" of flu have been reported.

Medical men advise: "With a head cold or sore throat stay home."

Influenza first struck at Belmont High on February 25 when 133 of the school's 350 students were absent. On February 28, the total was 140 and the girls' counsellor spent most of her day driving stricken pupils home.

The epidemic also reached into Langford, Happy Valley and Prospect Lake schools.

Up-island onslaughts of the flu also had dwindled considerably yesterday, according to health and school authorities.

At Nanaimo, where 86 high school students were absent February 25 and 104 last Monday, the total had dropped to 37 yesterday.

The number of high school absentees in Duncan was also reported "down considerably."

Forecaster Calls For Umbrellas

Umbrellas will replace ear muffs in Victoria, according to the weatherman.

He forecasts rain and cloudy skies for the city this morning, but predicts sunny periods in the afternoon.

The mercury today is expected to reach a high of 45 degrees.

Chief Inspector Reports:

Education Week Opens

Today's Schools Are Meeting the Challenge

BY JOHN GOUGH
Chief Municipal Inspector of Schools

This is education week, the one week of the year when people are urged to observe what goes on in their local schools.

This custom was initiated 20 years ago by the Canadian Teachers' Federation. Today education week is supported by outstanding organizations in business, industry and labor. With the assistance of the press and radio, these organizations and school officials are making the public aware that "Education is Everybody's Business."

Education week offers parents of Greater Victoria an opportunity to visit schools to see how their children are taught. During this week, principals of the majority of the schools will send out invitations through the pupils asking mothers and fathers to come into the schools.

These schools will be open on Wednesday from 1 to 3 p.m.: Esquimalt High, Central Junior High, Oak Bay Junior High, Bank Street, Burnside, Frank Hobbs, George Jay, Gordon Head, Lampson Street, McKenzie Avenue, Margaret Jenkins, Monterey Avenue, North Ward, Oaklands, Sir James Douglas, South Park, Strawberry Vale, Tillicum, Tolmie, Victoria West, View Royal and Willows.

Visitors will be welcome at Tillicum School this morning, at Beacon Hill and James Bay Schools on Thursday between 1 and 3 p.m., and at Mount Douglas High and Cloverdale Schools on Friday after 1 p.m.

Members of the public who do not wish to visit classrooms on these days may prefer to enjoy some of the 30 plays being presented in various schools in connection with the Schools Drama Festival that runs during education week.

For almost a century, parents have gone into schools of this area to observe classes in action. As early as 1858, according to The Gazette published on August 4 of that year, parents attended the colonial school at Craigflower, now celebrating its centennial, to hear the pupils examined by Mr. Clarke, the teacher, and by Rev. E. Cridge, the school inspector.

It is interesting to note that even in those days, the inspector was not altogether satisfied because his report of 1856 stated that "there was a want of accuracy in the elementary parts." The curriculum included reading, writing, arithmetic, history, geography, grammar and the scriptures.

May I urge the public to avail itself of this opportunity to witness that the three Rs and other essential subjects like history, geography, art, science and health are still taught and being taught better than they ever were.

During the last quarter of a century, educators have devoted much effort to improving methods in the teaching of reading and arithmetic. Better textbooks are now available in these and other subjects. Consequently, bright children do as well today as they ever did, the slower ones can make better progress with the more interesting and carefully prepared teaching aids.

If I were asked to present an inspector's report, as Mr. Cridge did about 100 years ago, I would be prompted to state that our schools are guiding the all-round development of children in an efficient and economical manner. The challenge of educating an increasing number of pupils of a wide range of ability is being met. The majority of the graduates are well prepared to enter the business, professional and industrial world. The effectiveness of our educational system is reflected in the fact that the people of British Columbia enjoy a higher standard of living and have a higher earning power than any group in Canada.

HERE'S ANSWER TO COUGHS OF COLDS PROBLEM!

Here is a new, pleasant cough medicine — Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup. It's different! A combination of a new penetrating ingredient with a medicating formula. The penetrating ingredient carries the medicine to irritated crevices of the throat, where the medicating ingredient can go right to work.

That's why it's named Vicks Medi-trating Cough Syrup. It medicates as it penetrates.

Beauty and You

By MARION MATTHEWS

The healthy vigor of youth and good looks does not last forever but there are many ways by which to retard the effects of time while conserving energies for the more pleasant things in life. For you modern housewives this could be the adaptation of new and approved appliances that make for efficiency as well as ease of doing things about home.

Even with so much efficiency at hand it is important to apportion your time so there is some left for your own relaxation too. All the wonderful aids such as clothes washers, dryers and the electric machine that gets you off your knees by both scrubbing and polishing the floor must be used so that they serve your needs intelligently. Use them in good posture and stretch all you can as you work about the house.

Plan your work so that you spread it over a number of days. Do not attempt, even though you may have the most modern appliances available, to do everything in one day. This is a sure way to lay yourself low with a charley horse or at least to rob you of pep for the next few days. Plan so that you have a couple of afternoons a week to yourself. These might well be spent in catching up on your beauty care. You can have your hair and nails done professionally or allot yourself time to do them while on a free afternoon.

Be methodical and keep a little area reserved for your "planning." Newest house plans seem to acknowledge the importance of this in your life by seeing that a planning table or desk is included in the kitchen area. When it's all worked out, you will take on a calmness and poise that is reflected in your manner as a housewife and hostess. You'll be warding off those signs of age, too, that show up early in the disorganized and harried rushing about in a breathless, tense fashion that's often annoying to others.

Let modern science help you keep your beauty not only by the aids found on your dressing table but by the easier methods of performing daily chores.

Anaesthetic Unnecessary For Children at Bedtime

NEW YORK (NANA) — Do you feel like using an anesthetic on junior just before bedtime?

Does he want a drink, a cookie, or "just one more story" to prolong the agony?

If so, don't despair. Infants' sleep problems, if it makes you feel any better, have become a major concern in recent years.

To give parents much needed guidance, the Child Study Association of America has prepared a booklet entitled "sleep, [illegible] tion by John [illegible] going into the whys and wherefores of sleep habits. It tells you what to do when your pride and heir becomes unmanageable. It also tells you why he is doing it.

Here are some pointers from the pamphlet which might be of help:

Don't let baby cry long and hard. Go to him promptly and see what he needs. This is especially true during the first five months of his life. Later you can let him cry a little, if the neighbors don't object.

Before putting him in his crib, make him comfortable. Also, cuddle him, let him know you love him and want him. If your voice is not like Rochester's you might attempt crooning.

Try to give baby his own bed and his own room, but don't be too far from him.

Don't take baby into bed with you. He'll get used to it and take longer to become independent.

For children up to school age bedtime should rarely be later than from 7 to 8.30 p.m.

Try to spend time with the children just before bedtime. Television is no substitute for the companionship of a father or mother, nor is viewing exciting TV programs a way to quiet children before bedtime.

Don't be fooled by delaying bedtime tactics—but don't minimize them, either. His tricks to prolong staying up might be due to anxiety or loneliness.

Be consistent. Being firm one night and lenient the next will only confuse a child.

Don't put him to bed when he's crying or discontented. A happy child falls asleep more readily.

Children have their own troubles and problems and this may keep them awake. Try to listen to their troubles; try to make them not only physically comfortable, but also put their minds at ease.

Choose a baby sitter with care. If she is a stranger to your household, have her come an hour before you leave so she and the baby can get acquainted.

Don't sneak out of the house, fearing a scene. Tears over a parting are better than shattered faith in parents.

Don't tell your child he's silly, if he wakes up frightened. [illegible] parents so reassure him that you are there to help him off to sleep again.

For parents who need more details, these free booklets have been made available by the I. B. Kleinert Rubber Company, of 485 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y.

Burlap Gowns Highlight Of Eastern Fashion Show

BY ELIZABETH TOOMEY

NEW YORK (UP)—Hard-up heroines of historical fiction met a social crisis by tearing down the velvet draperies and stitching them into ball gowns, and a broke belle today might do the same thing with old burlap bags (gunny sacks, if [illegible])

Designers who are helping to boost this feed bag fabric into high fashion staged an all-burlap fashion show here recently with the help of the consul general of Pakistan, who wore a chartreuse burlap vest with his grey suit for the occasion Pakistan produces approximately 75 per cent of the world's jute supply, from which burlap is woven, which explains why the Pakistan House here opened its doors for the fashion show

"Colored burlap is not new," Ralph F McLeod, executive of the fabric company which made all the burlap used in the fashions, explained.

A girl who would stitch up a skirt from unprocessed sack-type burlap will be socially insecure in a rainstorm. A wet burlap bag smells like, well, exactly like wet burlap.

The fashions in the burlap show, most of which were de[illegible] Cowan, included a white cocktail dress trimmed with gold embroidery, pearls and blue beads.

"I guarantee you'll get attention when you wear something made of burlap," Mrs Cowan said.

SHAN-TONG

This unusual pattern of fir plywood is the latest addition to the famous P.V. brand of decorative plywoods. Shan-Tong has a rich appearance of expensive woven Oriental fabric—a rich, interesting pattern that blends with any decorative style — contemporary, traditional, or exotic. The natural two-toned color (Pock brown and cream) of Shan-Tong's "woven" texture requires no further treatment other than a transparent, such as white shellac (thinned with methyl hydrate (wood alcohol)), a wipe-off paint stain or solid color can also be used. Shan-Tong comes in sizes 4x8-¼" thick, each $6.73.

Canada's coast-to-coast television network moved one step closer last week with the awarding of a contract for the construction of the link between Toronto and Manitoba.

Thirty-eight micro-wave towers will carry TV programs, and telephone circuits as well, west to Winnipeg.

Routes for the TV network in Manitoba have already been tested, and work is proceeding in Saskatchewan and Alberta, according to an Ottawa announcement. The British Columbia situation is still under study.

Canada will be spanned by another communication system within two years, experts say.

Canada's famous Peace Tower on the Parliament Buildings in Ottawa now has to take second place as that city's highest structure. The 326-foot tower is topped by the CBC's new TV tower at CBOT. The new structure is 485 feet high. Workmen have been busy mounting the antenna on the high tower all through the cold weather of last week. CBOT is expected to begin operation early in the spring.

Penticton Vs on TV — CBUT will present, as a delayed telecast, last week's world championship hockey game between Canada's entry, the Penticton Vs, and the United States team, tonight at 11. Tomorrow's game, which will also be seen at 11 p.m., will be Canada vs Czechoslovakia.

Rotary Club Anniversary — KING-TV will salute the Rotary Club on its golden anniversary at 8 tonight, with a special program featuring Edward Arnold, and a host of outstanding personalities.

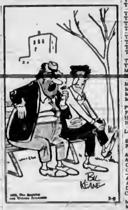
Refugee Story — Frederick March, Margaret Sullivan and Glenn Ford are seen in "So Ends Our Night," a tragic tale of the plight of refugees and their struggle for survival in a post-war world.

* * *

Far East Adventure—William Lundigan and Virginia Bruce get mixed up in an invasion of China, while on a diplomatic mission in the Far East, in the absorbing story "State Department File 649," on KVOS-TV at 9.30.



BIL KEANE
1955, The Register and Tribune Syndicate
3-8

"I was a radio announcer on a reducing program—then they switched the show to TV."

TV Theatres—Robert Preston and Glenda Farrell are seen in the timely picture "Crime in the Streets" on KING-TV at 9.30. A Canadian play, "The Closing Door," is the CBUT drama, also at 9.30. "Crackup," a story of success and failure, is told on KOMO-TV at the same time.

Movie Awards — Red Skelton presents movie awards to Bing Crosby, Edmond O'Brien, Judy Garland and other stars, on his KTNT-TV show at 9.30.

Laugh a Minute — Danny Thomas stars in his award-winning comedy success show tonight at 9 on KING-TV, along with Jean Hagen as Margaret, his wife and mother of Terry and Rusty, two impish darlings who round out a perfect cast, for easy viewing.

WHEN PROFITS ARE MEASURED IN PENNIES

Is Leukosis a Prowler on your Farm? If Leukosis stealthily undermines your egg profits—don't take half-way preventative measures. GO ALL OUT, start at the beginning by buying the most resistant chicks you can get.

H&N Nick Chick Leghorns you buy from our hatchery have this Leucosis resistant breeding behind them. That's one reason they live so well where others fade away and die. We don't claim they are 100% but we know they have good resistance when compared to other strains. H&N Nick Chick Random Sample Average Unequalled by any other Leghorn or Hy-bred.

4-Year Calif. ave. profit $6.10, eggs 250
Test ave. profit 14.84, eggs 220
Extra H&N profit per chick $1.34, range 60

H&N Leghorns also hold the highest three year average profit at both California and New York. We are the only hatchery in Western Canada that can supply you with H&N NICK CHICKS. Why don't YOU try them and see how much more resistant they are under the conditions which exist on your farm.

WHY GAMBLE

When you buy broiler chicks buy the chicks that will make you the most PROFIT. Our Cornish Cross took the Random Sample Test in California crossed with first generation Nichols New Hampshire or Arbor Acres White Rocks. All our breeding stock is first generation Nichols or Arbor Acres. We are the only hatchery in B.C. that imports all their breeding stock from these famous American breeders.

'Snow White' Opens Schools Festival

BY BERT BINNY

The Schools Drama Festival for 1955 opened yesterday with three plays presented at Quadra Elementary School.

First came "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs" in a distinctly super-simplified edition. The fey element of the fairy story was sacrificed by the [illegible] tion and clarity of plot. Just how necessary such measures are in view of the widespread familiarity with the story it is hard to say.

Christine Cirksvicas made an entirely adequate Snow White and she conveyed a satisfying feeling of genuineness. Jenny Dark as the Queen was delightfully diabolical. She rang the required changes in mood, manner and voice very effectively particularly insofar as her changes were obviously calculated. Carol Seurrah made a suitably dashing and gallant Prince.

The seven dwarfs quite successfully accomplished what little the script gave them to do.

STARS COMMENDED

Peter Mannering, the adjudicator, commended Snow White for her vitality and the Queen for her control. He expressed particular pleasure at the care with which the setting was accomplished every detail being carefully worked out to create the required atmosphere.

The second play was "The Happy Man" presented by Milne's Landing High School. This was very effectively produced.

Eloise Nixon, Linda Shepherd and Jean Dunlop made lovely princesses who worked well together and yet contrived to maintain their individuality. Joseph Jackman as the doctor and Sheila Grant as General Volmar were outstanding and Ronnie Fedosenko as the "happy man" delighted everybody.

Costumes were charming.

Mr. Mannering found the production effective and most of the movement well handled. Eloise Nixon's Armoret received special mention and, of Ronnie Fedosenko's "Happy Man," the adjudicator remarked that there was no mistaking his mood.

BURLESQUE

[illegible] Great Toe, something in the burlesque style. It was played by Saanichton Elementary School. It was well costumed and colorful. Alex Thomson as the beggar drew many well deserved laughs. David Howe as the king was suitably authoritative and the court generally stayed right in the piece.

Mr. Mannering commended the grouping and color, praised Bruce Fisher for his portrayal of the scheming Grand Vizier and enjoyed the moments of unrestricted action as when Snip and Snap engaged in a fight with long, bamboo sticks.

The festival was officially opened by School Board Chairman W. P. Jeune, immediately preceding the evening session at the S. J. Willis Junior High School.

FIRST PLAY

The first play was Belmont High School's "The Courting of Marie Jenvrin." This is one of rather few good Canadian plays.

Gail Thomson as "Marie" and Bernard Wachter as "Michael Lorrigan" carried their leads inimitably but were never lacking in support.

"Mystery at the Old Fort" was next, presented by S. J. Willis Junior High. This was a mystery.

Linden Louis, as "Mrs. Bishop," played a long hard part conscientiously and well. Jo Ann Thompson as "Lizzie" gave a fine comedy performance, accent and all.

Victoria High School's "Alexander Proposes" completed the program. This comedy cast did extremely well.

The adjudicator praised Gail Thomson's "Marie." Bennis Gavin and Laurence Kitchin were also commended as was Bernard Wachter for his "Michael O'Leary."

EXCELLENT WORK

"Alexander Proposes" contained much good movement, timing and business, said Mr. Mannering.

The festival continues today with three plays at George Jay School in the afternoon and four in the evening at Oak Bay Junior High School.

GLASGOW — Canadian Pacific's new 7,000-ton Princess of Vancouver, a stern-loading, auto-train-passenger ferry for [illegible] launched here at noon yesterday.

Mrs. Harry Arkie, wife of the Canadian Pacific's European general manager, officially launched the vessel which will go into service between Vancouver and Nanaimo later this year.

On the eve of the launching, Premier W. A. C. Bennett and Mayor Fred Hume of Vancouver sent congratulatory messages to W. A. McAdam, agent general for British Columbia in London.

Mr. Bennett said the launching was a "recognition of British Columbia's expanding economy which reflects an optimism fully justified by current trade and industrial developments."

The premier hailed the Canadian Pacific as the "authenticator of Canadian confederation and pioneer of British Columbia's coastal waterways."

Rearmament Threatened Anew

PARIS (Reuters) — A new threat to France's ratification of the German rearmament treaties arose Monday in the National Assembly.

Gaullist Deputy Jacques Vendrous presented a motion urging the government to postpone dis[illegible]on of the treaties until the United States and Britain clarify their attitudes on a 1947 pledge to France about the Saar territory's future.

France gave up her claim to war reparations from Germany at the 1947 four-power Moscow conference in exchange for a joint British American promise to support proposals for a future autonomous Saar, divorced from Germany, at a German peace treaty conference.

But Chancellor Konrad Aden[illegible]

parliament last week. Britain and the United States have agreed to withdraw their promise to France if the present French German agreement on the Saar is ratified.

Adenouer signed the agree[illegible] ment in Paris October 23 when treaties for rearming his nation were initiated. It calls for "Europeanization" of the industrially-rich pocket state which was prewar German territory, pending a German peace treaty.

do's and don'ts of a will

Few people have any idea what is involved in preparing an estate for probate, let alone administering it. Even the man who makes the bequests has little conception of the problems involved.

For that reason, if for no other, it is important to those concerned that the skills and experience of an organization that has served Canadian families for over 65 years should be employed.

During the past year, more Canadians have sought our advice in estate planning than in any year in the history of our company.

We will be happy to discuss with you, methods of carrying out your own wishes in connection with your estate, without cost or obligation on your part.

The bidding:

NORTH	EAST	SOUTH	WEST
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
2 ♠	Pass	3 ♡	Pass
4 ♠	All pass

Although North's hand is near to a minimum bid, its value was greatly enhanced when South bid hearts. North's doubleton king and four trumps promised to plug the heart suit with no losers. having previously indicated that he held no powerhouse by his simple raise to two spades, North correctly jumped to game.

West led the queen of diamonds and the defenders took the first two diamond tricks, South ruffing the third lead of the suit. Declarer sized up his chances as favorable. If he had to lose a trump trick, he could still make game on a successful club finesse. If the spades broke, he need not care whether the club finesse won or lost. So he led a low spade to North's king and, when East showed out, suddenly awoke to the fact that a successful club finesse wouldn't be enough any more. He was doomed to lose two trump tricks.

South's difficulty arose through having set cart before horse in analyzing his chances. In fact, the manner of playing the trump suit depended upon whether or not the club finesse succeeded, hence, South should have taken the club finesse first. When West covered the club jack with the king, declarer could afford a safety play in trumps. He could plan to give up one trump trick in order to make sure he did not lose two.

Actually, if he led a low spade from dummy the situation would have been revealed. But if East had followed suit in spades, South should merely cover any card that East played. That way, if East held the four trumps, he would make only a single trump trick. If West had a trump, the remaining adverse trumps would surely fall under the ace and king.

Of course, if the club finesse had failed, declarer would have no choice but to avoid loss of a trump trick and would not be able to make the safety play.

Traffic Death of Pedestrian Accidental, Inquest Jury Rules

A pedestrian on his way to a church meeting died of injuries sustained in an "accidental" traffic mishap March 3 on Hillside Avenue, a coroner's jury decided yesterday.

William H. S. Glew, 64, of 1501 Oaklands, was struck approximately 75 feet east of Gosworth by the car of Robert John Bull, 728 Pine Street.

He [illegible] car about 100 feet after the impact and ran back, the 18-year old driver said yesterday in testifying under protection of the Canada Evidence Act.

A passenger, James E. Steen, 17, of 3952 Cumberland, ran to his aunt's place, because he was "just scared," after he looked behind the car, saw something and "guessed it was a pedestrian."

Steen and Bull estimated the [illegible] went east on Hillside.

SIGHT GOOD

Rev William Greenhalgh said Mr Glew's sight was good but his hearing impaired. He was walking to a meeting at Mr. Greenhalgh's church when he was struck.

The victim sustained a compound fracture of the right leg, a fracture of the left leg, and died from effects of head injuries, testified Dr. John M Grama, Royal Jubilee Hospital interne. Mr Glew was dead on arrival at the hospital.

Verner Kettner, 2310 Wark, driving west on Hillside about 7 40 p.m., said he "saw a shadow" in the headlight of an oncoming car. [illegible] approaching car as normal.

The victim was not in a pedestrian lane and not at an intersection, Kettner added.

Newspaper delivery boy Frederick Potts, 12, of 2520 Asquith, said he was making collections at 1481 Hillside when he saw a man crossing Hillside north to south begin to "walk faster" when a car started coming.

Mechanic William Bridgewood said he found the Bull car's brake lining in good condition and the brakes mechanically as safe as they could be on a 1936 model.

VISIBILITY GOOD

Constable Thomas Smith said the body was thrown about 14 feet. Street lights, located on the south side of Hillside were lit and visibility was good.

The street light to the west was 88 feet from the point of impact and the light to the east about 40 feet. Broken headlight glass found and pointed out by Bull showed the accident site, the constable said.

Coroner Dr E C Hart observed pedestrians in most cases have the right-of-way and must keep a look-out.

In this case it could hardly be said there were pedestrian rights. It was up to the pedestrian to maintain a watch and for the car driver as well, he said.

Early Entry Wins

The brand new Ford that was driven around Victoria streets from noon Thursday to midnight Saturday traveled exactly 980½ miles, National Motors announced yesterday.

Gunnar Ferdinandsen, 845 Princess, who guessed 981 miles, and Mrs J Daley, 469 Admirals Road, who guessed 980, were equally close to the [illegible]sen carried off first prize of $100 because his entry was in a day earlier. Mrs. Daley receives $50. Miss N. Mann, who was third with a guess of 979 miles, receives $25.

Bulk of the more than 4,000 guesses was in the 1,300-to-1,400-miles bracket. The car averaged almost exactly 16⅓ miles an hour.

Given Post

Basil Gardom was elected president and manager of the Independent Milk Producers Co-operative Association at the annual meeting held Saturday in Vancouver. Others elected were T. H. McDonald, vice president, and M. B. McDermid, secretary.

Suspended

GRACE KELLY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) Film star Grace Kelly has been yanked from the MGM payroll for refusing twice to report for work in a Spencer Tracy movie, "Jeremy Rodock," the studio announced Monday. An MGM spokesman said the star, now in New York, was notified by telegram ten days ago that she was suspended for turning down the role. The studio did not disclose the legal move at the time because executives hoped she would reconsider. Miss Kelly said in New York she did not mean to be "temperamental but I just do not believe the part is right for me."

Coal Harbor Regatta

City Frostbite Fleet To Invade Vancouver

An armada in miniature will invade Vancouver next week end when Royal Victoria Yacht Club's frostbite sailors will race against Royal Vancouver's frostbiters in a two-day regatta in Coal Harbor.

Victoria's entire fleet of 13 Davidson and eight Sabot Class dinghies is being shipped to Vancouver this week by various means, some on top of cars, others as deck cargo.

The program in Coal Harbor will start at 11 a.m. Saturday with an all-in race, every skipper for himself. Thereafter there will be Davidson and Sabot Class races between teams representing the two clubs Saturday afternoon.

The annual inter-city engagement will wind up Sunday morning with a race for commodores and ex-commodores of both clubs.

The following week end, March 19 and 20, the Vancouver frostbiters with their dinghies will come to Victoria aboard Harold Jones' motor yacht La Beverie for a return match in Cadboro Bay. Naval service dinghies, manned by members of Royal Canadian Naval Sailing Association, also will race in a separate class, making a total of 50 boats in three classes taking part in the regatta. The program will be the same as that in Vancouver.

Very light airs made it possible to sail only two races in RVYC's week end frostbite series Sunday. Jorgen Baess and Ace Lindsay shared top honors, with a first and second each.

Court Says Linda Can Keep Jewels

HOLLYWOOD (UP) Green-eyed actress Linda Christian won court approval Monday of her refusal to give up $132,500 worth of jewels given her by an admirer pending trial of a recovery suit by a New York jewelry firm.

The jewels were given to Miss Christian, estranged wife of actor Tyrone Power, by Milwaukee playboy Robert H Schlesinger. But the noted jewelry firm of Van Cleef & Arpels claimed a check for $100,000 it received in part payment bounced.

The company filed a recovery action but wanted Miss Christian to give the jewels back pending trial. Superior Judge Arnold Praeger ruled that Miss Christian was right in retaining custody of the gift prior to a trial verdict on ownership of the jewels.

Moderate Reaction Hits Stocks

NEW YORK (UP) — Stocks Monday suffered their widest [illegible] eral average.

The setback came after a full week of sharply rising prices had lifted the industrial average by 10.18 points and rails by 5.77 points.

As a result of the preceding five-day spurt, the trading community felt that the market was entitled to a moderate reaction to consolidate its position.

Widest losses came into the aircraft issues and other stocks of companies with defense contracts.

Losses ranging to more than 3 points were made by General Dynamics, Boeing Airplane, Douglas Aircraft, Bendix Aviation, Chance Vought, North American Aviation, Glenn L. Martin.

Trading Brisk

TORONTO (CP) — Stock market trading bounced along Monday at the fastest pace in more than a month and was featured by a big leap in Consolidated Denison toward the close.

The stock ended with a $1.20 gain after turning over almost [illegible]0,000 shares.

Mines Active

MONTREAL (CP) — Heavy trading in the mines featured the stock market at the close Monday. The industrial market was mixed in a two-point range.

Over 1,250,000 mine shares were traded.

Vancouver Stocks

VANCOUVER (CP) — Trading was slow Monday on the Vancouver stock exchange, but prices held firm.

London Stocks

LONDON (Reuters) — Business was selective on the London stock exchange Monday.

Good company news continued to help sentiment but there was a strong tendency to stay liquid until next month's budget statement.

Market Outlook Good

BY PETER W. BELL
(Hugh Mackay & Co.,
W. C. Pitfield & Co., Ltd.)

Stocks started substantial gains along a broad front last week as the Dow Jones Industrial average rose 10.18 to a record high of 419.68.

Railroads turned in the best percentage gain of the three major groups by adding 5.77 to 153.52 and utilities rose 1.71 to a new 24 [illegible] 65.52.

Demand was less aggressive just before the week end, the carrier shares slipping back 0.04 Friday for the only daily loss suffered by the averages in the five sessions, but brokers considered this normal and constructive, following three days of sharp general advance, and technicians noted that volume tended to contract as buying became less insistent.

The street considers the news background still favorable, and not likely to disturb investor confidence. A resting period involving a mixed price trend, or one of mild reaction, would not come as much of a surprise to these sources after five days of steep climbing.

However, and if such were accompanied by lighter volume than was generated the early part of last week's advance, it would be constructively viewed by technicians, who believe that first resistance to any sell-off now, might be expected at around the January-February highs of 413 for industrials and 146 for railroads.

BROWN CORPORATION

The company this week announced earnings for the year ended November 30, 1954, of $1.24 per share as against $1.04 per share for the previous year. It must, of course, be remembered that these earnings do not reflect the sale of the Canadian subsidiary which has in the past been contributing slightly [illegible] pany's earnings.

The company has also announced firm plans for retiring the first preference stock. For all holders who do not wish to exercise their right to convert into common stock, the company will offer them the alternative right to exchange each first preference share into one $100 debenture plus one share of common stock.

Thus, holders have three alternatives, either (a) to have their stock called at $100, (b) to convert into seven common shares or (c) to convert into one $100 debenture plus one common share.

The proposed coupon rate on the new debenture has not yet been announced but assuming it to be a sufficiently generous coupon to allow the debenture to stand at par, the third alternative would appear preferable with the common stock currently standing at 15½. The object of the alternative offer to preference stockholders is presumably to try and prevent undue dilution of the common stock.

The May apple is not poisonous, but its root is poisonous.

Unconscious Little Girl Quickly Pulled to Safety

A three-year-old boy's warning cries and alert action of an elderly neighbor saved the life of 14-month-old Anna Maria Bown, who fell into a water-filled ditch on a lot at Dunstervilie and Interurban Road at 11.45 a.m. yesterday.

Mrs. Herb Bown 1266 Dunsterville, realized the plight of her child when her son, Robert, three, ran into the kitchen crying that his sister had fallen into a ditch filled with snow and ice water next door.

Mrs. Bown said she ran to the ditch and found that her neighbor, Frank Fear, had already pulled the unconscious little girl to safety.

He had snatched mud and grass out of her mouth.

"I could have never reached her in time," Mrs. Bown told the Daily Colonist, expressing her gratitude for Mr Fear's quick action.

FULLY RECOVERED

Mrs. Bown said she "held the child upside-down" and she was soon breathing normally Anna Marie is apparently recovered completely, she said.

Mr Fear, a pensioner who gardens on the land where the ditch is located, said he had been watching the two Bown children at play on his lot while he was carrying wood.

Being deaf, he could not hear Robert's screams But when he saw the little boy running toward the house and could not see the girl, he realized something was wrong and hurried to where they had been playing

LYING FACE DOWN

Mr Fear said he found Anna Maria lying face down in the ditch water which he indicated was about two feet deep.

Mrs. Bown said she had her daughter "well-bundled in layers of winter clothing" which kept her from getting soaked in her fall.

Minutes later she was in dry clothing again and managed to smile between sniffles.

Matsus Preparing To Meet Assault

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP) —The Matsu Islands, 100 miles northwest of Formosa, will be defended and are steadily being reinforced, junior Nationalist officers declared Monday.

Apparently this meant with or without U.S. support. The United States has not committed itself publicly to defend the islands 20 miles off the Red mainland.

The officers told foreign correspondents that strong fortifications are being thrown up in the Matus. The islands are being laced by a system of military roads

The officers said the Matsus will be built up to greater strength than the Tachen Islands, which had a garrison of more than 11,000 men before they were abandoned. The Matsu garrison has been estimated at 5,000

Socred Firm Deal Attacked

The Social Credit government purchased a defunct irrigation company in North Kamloops, May 27, 1953, approximately two weeks before a provincial election, as "part of the election campaign," Liberal leader Arthur Laing charged last night.

Mr. Laing spoke as the public accounts committee of the legislature began checking expenses of cabinet ministers during parts of 1953 and 1954. Such checks are normal procedure during a session.

"The government picked up the dry bones of a defunct irrigation company" said Mr Laing, referring to a warrant purchasing title to lands and property of B.C. Fruit Lands Limited, an irrigation system in the B.C. Fruit Lands irrigation district at Kamloops, for $25,000

"Gaglardi (Public Works Minister P A. Gaglardi, whose riding includes North Kamloops) assumed all he had to do was advise Ottawa the matter would come under the Prairie Farm Rehabilitation Act" Mr. Laing said.

"Of course, the federal government had nothing to do with it," he said "It's a matching proposition."

The warrant, examined by the committee last night, said B.C. Fruit Lands Limited was unable to carry out rehabilitation of the irrigation system, and pointed out that negotiations had started between B.C. and administrators of the Rehabilitation Act for a rehabilitation program, tentatively set at $600,000

"Pending completion (of these negotiations), it is necessary for B.C. to buy the title to property

Pearkes Scores Increases For Veterans as 'Niggardly'

OTTAWA—Despite protests of Major-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, VC, Conservative member for Esquimalt-Saanich, that the government was being "niggardly," the House of Commons gave unanimous approval yesterday to a bill boosting payments to some 41,500 burned-out war veterans and their dependents by $9,500,000 a year.

General Pearkes termed "preposterous" a statement by Veterans Affairs Minister Hugues Lapointe that the new legislation would raise the standard of living of many veterans and their families

CEILING RAISED

The bill increases from $720 to $840 the amount a single man may earn in a year, plus his allowance In the case of a veteran and his wife living together, the increase in permitted earnings is from $1,200 to $1,440.

How could anyone have a reasonable level of subsistence or $1,440 a year, demanded General Pearkes

He called on the minister to "apologize now" for having made the overstatement of all time when he describes these miserable increases as being of great help to the older veterans and as raising appreciably their standard of living"

"INSULT"

He said he felt deeply the "insult" which had been added to the long period of procrastination which has occurred in looking after these older veterans

He protested strongly that under the legislation widows of Imperial veterans are not eligible for war veterans' allowances after living in Canada for 20 years

The bill providing the increases now goes to the special Commons committee on veterans' affairs

It was given second reading —approval in principle by the house

INCREASE POSSIBLE

Mr Lapointe said that for a married veteran who is physically unable to do part time work, the allowance can be increased to $120 a month through a special assistance fund from the $108 provided by the new bill. The single veteran's $60 allowance could be raised to $70

Mr. Lapointe said removal of the permissible annual income ceilings would cost the govern

Exercise in Moderation Won't Hurt Healthy Heart

This is the second of seven articles on how to stop killing yourself Dr Steincrohn is the author of "How to Add Years to Your Life, "What You Can Do for High Blood Pressure" and "How to Keep Fit Without Exercise"

BY PETER J. STEINCROHN, MD, FCAP

This morning's mail brought a provocative letter about exercise

"I wish you would clear up this question of just how much exercise each of us needs. I understand you are an exponent of you don't have to exercise. Will you please explain your theory to me? Otherwise I'll bust

"I am 48 years old and quite a bit overweight. Whenever I play tennis or put in a good week end of golf, my wife is always after me She says I'm overdoing, that I'm liable to get a heart attack Isn't it true that the healthy heart can take all sorts of exercise without harm to itself? I'd appreciate an early answer for the sake of our family peace. Since my wife read one of your magazine articles against exercise, I'm always conscience-stricken whenever I reach for a tennis racket or golf club."

Your question is a good one However limited space prevents me from answering fully. Here are some points that may straighten out your personal and family difficulties

Exercise, in itself, does not deserve blanket condemnation. Over-exercise is the culprit. And it depends upon who is doing the exercise

First, I concede that the healthy heart can withstand a lot of exertion But you must ask yourself—and answer—these important questions:

When did you last have a complete physical examination (including electrocardiogram?) Did your doctor restrict your exercise? If you haven't had a recent examination, then your wife is correct. You are gambling with your life If your heart is damaged, overexercise may tip you over into oblivion. Even if your heart is normal, remember that it is only normal for your age A normal 48-year-old heart is not as efficient as a normal teen aged heart.

Therefore, if you insist on tennis, never play singles with a youngster Play doubles with people in your own age group.

As regards golf, better not try to get in 36 holes a day. Nine holes would be preferable. Or 18 holes with a long rest in between.

In spite of what many people think because of my books and articles against overexercise, I am not against all exercise Moderate exercise is permissible for the healthy person whose doctor has recently given him a physical evaluation

You may bowl, walk, do gardening, play golf or tennis. All in moderation. As for myself, I prefer to take mine in a rocking chair. I get a vicarious satisfaction in watching others overexercise.

Session To Continue Well Into Next Week

The current session of the B.C. legislature will likely run well into next week, The Daily Colonist learned reliably last night.

Although earlier predictions pointed to Friday, March 11, as a probable prorogation date, sources close to the government now feel the weight of legislation and consideration of estimates still to come will make that impossible

The legislature began debate on the labor department estimates last night and will continue today

Still to come are estimates for public works, education highways municipal affairs, finance and the premier's office

In addition, members must complete discussion of about 40 bills now on the order paper; added to these, it was learned, are about 25 bills still to be introduced.

Opposition members have indicated they won't be rushed on any remaining government business.
